AN ARMISTICE NOT GRANTED

LORD KITCHENER REFUSES ON MILITARY GROUNDS.

London, April 18.—The government leader, A. J. Balfour, in the house of commons, today made the following important statement:

"After two conferences between Lord Milner, the British high commissioner of South Africa, and Lord Kitchener and the Boer delegates at Pretoria, Lord Kitchener, while refusing to grant an armistice on military grounds, has agreed to give facilities for the election and meeting of representatives of the various Boer commands to consider the position. The Boer leaders have, therefore, left Pretoria to carry out this plan."

Mr. Balfour added that it was not expected that communication between the British authorities and the Boer leaders could be resumed in less than three weeks' time.

Mr. Balfour's statement made a generally favorable impression. It was argued among the members that the action of the Boer leaders demonstrates that, at any rate, a majority of the delegates favor the acceptance of the suggested British peace terms. The submission of the question to a plebescite of the burghers is according to Boer law, which requires the leaders of armed forces in the field to take the opinion of their followers before concluding peace.

TELLS DIFFERENT STORY.

New York, April 18.—Rev. Dr. Joseph Hertz, who was a member of Lord Milner's high or advisory committee in South Africa, and chaplain of the rand rifles, has arrived in this city, his former home. When the war broke out Dr. Hertz was expelled from Johannesburg by Mr. Kruger for being a Uitlander. He has since visited many of the British concentration camps in South Africa. Of these camps and on kindred subjects Dr. Hertz says:

"The stories of the British cruelty toward the wives and families of the Boers in the concentration camps are absurd. It is not the fighting Boer who makes these charges, but the stay-at-homes. Why, the Boer in the field sends his family to the British to take care of, so that he will not be hampered by them while fighting. While there were but 9,000 children attending school in the Orange Free State before the war started, there are now 14,000 at school under the British governmental rule."

INJURED BY A FALL.

Miss Grace Titus, daughter of Engineer Theodore Titus, of 1306 Buchanan street, sustained some painful injuries yesterday by a fall. She had stepped upon a chair to adjust a curtain, when the chair tilted over and she fell, striking and bruising her side and breaking the bone of one of the fingers of the left hand.

NEW MANAGER INSTALLED.

F. C. Plasterer, secretary and treasurer of the Collins Ice Cream company, has been in the city the past few days making some improvements at the company's store and installing C. E. Hadsell, who will manage their business in Fort Wayne this season.

LEFT FOR WINCHESTER.

Rev. H. J. Norris, the retiring pastor of Berry street M. E. church, left this morning for his new charge at Winchester, where he will occupy the pulpit on Sunday. Rev. Norris will remove to that city early in the coming week.

WAS A SPLENDID SUCCESS.

A very enjoyable entertainment was given last evening under the auspices of Summit City lodge, No. 36, A. O. U. W., and a large crowd at the lodge rooms was delightfully entertained. Musical and literary numbers were interspersed, and the program was under the management of Alfred L. Haddon, chairman of the social committee. Miss Pearl Kime gave the opening number, a piano solo, and was followed by a brief address by W. H. Kemp. Miss Elizabeth Potter's soprano solo, "Open Secret," was enthusiastically encored, and other numbers upon the program included addresses by H. L. Somers and W. A. Ferris, a baritone solo, "The Tie That Binds," by Charles A. Phelps; a tenor solo, "We're All Good Fellows," by Alfred L. Haddon; a recitation, "The Literary," by Dr. W. H. Stephenson; a Jewish monologue, by George Mines, and a sketch by Charles Threadgall. All were exceptionally well given. Dr. Stephenson making the hit of the evening in his rendition of James Whitcomb Riley's rhymes. Dr. Stephenson was reared at Greenfield, the boyhood home of Riley, and his characterizations are given from an intimate acquaintance with the Hoosier poet and with the characters he so delightfully depicts.

LAD ARRESTED FOR THEFT

"BUTCH" FRANKS ACCUSED OF A RECENT JOB.

Hartman Brothers' Grocery Looted of About $10 in Change—The Police News.

Not until this morning did Hartman Bros., the East Wayne street grocers, report to the police department that their till had been robbed a few nights ago of about $10 in pennies and small change. With all this handicap the department machinery was put into immediate operation, with the result that a few hours later "Butch" Franks, a young man, previously charged with similar crimes, was arrested on Columbia street by Officer Pappert. He was taken to the station, where, after a short session in the sweat-box, he confessed to the stealing. He had spent all the money and did not know just exactly how much he got, but said it was in the neighborhood of $10. He lives with his mother near the grocery store which was robbed and is known to the police as a bad young man. He will probably be arraigned at police court tomorrow morning.

AT POLICE HEADQUARTERS.

There was no police court this morning. Herman Lefever appeared to answer to a charge of riding a bicycle upon the sidewalks, but he represented that his wife is in the hospital and that he is obliged to take care of their children, and besides, is out of work; that if the case should go against him he would be obliged to go to jail, as he had no money to pay his fine, and his children would then be left alone and without support. The judge continued the case indefinitely.

John W. Short, a deserter from the United States army, was arrested on the street last evening by Superintendent Gorsline. Short enlisted here in 1899, but soon tired of military life. He was stationed at the Little Rock barracks and when, in 1900, his regiment was ordered to the Philippines, he concluded nit, and lost track of the barracks. Since then he has been wandering about the country, but your Uncle Samuel has been on his track ever since and recently it was discovered that he was headed this way. The superintendent was notified to be on the lookout for him and the lookout resulted in Mr. Short being locked up last night. An army officer is expected to arrive today from Fort Sheridan, Chicago, to take charge of him.

Street car men on the Main street line complain that bad boys in the west end annoy them by firing stones at them from the Grand Rapids overhead bridge near the cemetery.

Wall street residents complain that they are overstocked with bad boys, who make life miserable during the early hours of the new spring twilight.

MUSCLE WAS SEVERED.

David Butler, of 24 Koch street, met with an accident this morning that will deprive him of the use of the index finger of his left hand. Butler was cutting a stick of pine with a hatchet, holding the stick in his left hand, when the hatchet slipped and cut a deep gash two inches long on the back of his hand. The main muscle of the index finger was severed and the finger will always be stiff. Dr. J. Stults sewed up the wound.

SEWING CIRCLE FORMED.

About twenty Rathbone Sisters met at the home of Mrs. M. W. Kemp, on Indiana avenue, yesterday, and organized the "Iantha Sewing Circle." The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Braun; vice president, Mrs. Dawkins; secretary, Mrs. Kieffer; treasurer, Mrs. Eichoff. This society, being an adjunct of the Rathbone Sisters, will hold its meetings twice a month and work in the interests of the order.

A FINAL STRUGGLE

HOUSE FACTIONS LINED UP ON CUBAN BILL.

GREAT DEBATE IS CLOSED

HEPBURN AND DALZELL WIND UP FOR OPPOSITE SIDES.

VOTE TO BE TAKEN TODAY

SOUTHERN DEMOCRATS UNDER SERIOUS IMPUTATION.

Washington, April 18.—When the house met today at 11 o'clock there was a prospect of a memorable session ahead. The general debate upon the Cuban reciprocity bill was to close at 3 o'clock, and it was the intention of the leaders, if possible, to hold the house in session until the final vote was taken. The action of the democratic caucus last night, which decided to vote solidly for the removal of the differential on refined sugar, gave the leaders much concern, as they were unable to figure out exactly what strength the proposition would command on the republican side. The disclosures of Mr. Underwood last night relative to overtures made to the democrats on the basis of an abandonment of the Crumpacker resolution added a new complication to the situation and there seemed a likelihood that it might figure in the debate today in a sensational fashion. The whole atmosphere of the house, in fact, was charged with electricity and presaged the coming storm. Mr. Richardson (of Tennessee), the democratic leader, was the first speaker today.

Mr. Richardson called attention to the action of two counties in the district of Mr. Babcock (of Wisconsin) indorsing the latter's bill to remove the duties from steel, and amid democratic applause, said that the democrats proposed to give Mr. Babcock an opportunity later on to vote for the bill his constituents had indorsed. He also outlined the democratic program relative to offering an amendment to abolish the differential duty on refined sugar. If this amendment carried, he said, five or six million dollars would be taken from the sugar refiners and given to the American consumers of sugar.

INQUIRIES INTO BARGAIN.

Just before Mr. Richardson took his seat Mr. Bromwell (of Ohio) asked him this question:

"Does the gentleman from Tennessee know anything of a reported bargain between the leaders on this side and the democrats on that, by which the Crumpacker resolution is to be smothered in order to aid the passage of the pending bill?"

"Absolutely nothing," replied Mr. Richardson.

Mr. Fordney (of Michigan) opposed the bill. He declared that not a single Cuban appeared before the ways and means committee in favor of the bill. Everyone of the witnesses for it, he said, was either an American citizen owning sugar land in Cuba or indirectly or directly representing the influence of the sugar trust.

AROUSED EXCITEMENT.

Mr. Hepburn, of Iowa, aroused considerable excitement by bringing forward the revelation made in the democratic caucus last night concerning the alleged overtures made from the republican side to abandon the Crumpacker resolution if the democrats from the states threatened would vote against overruling the chair. After reading the account of the caucus in a morning paper he proceeded with great emphasis to declare that the charge, if true, or the statement made, was of a very serious character. "It charges some members of this house with attempting to traffic with the legislation before this body," he said. "It charges them with a willingness to shelve legislation which members here consider very important in order to secure the ultimate triumph of this bill.

"I do not believe it. I think the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. Underwood) must have been misinformed, but, nevertheless, I think it his duty to this house to be more explicit and to locate the offense where it properly belongs."

GOES AFTER GROSVENOR.

With great earnestness Mr. Hepburn continued to express his doubt whether such alleged methods would be resorted to to pass a bill which he was convinced 90 per cent. of the republicans were indifferent or opposed to. He held up to ridicule some of the most ardent friends of the measure. He quoted from the speech of Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, the statement that Mr. Grosvenor declined to support a bill for a 50, 40, 30 or 25 per cent. reduction. It was only when the concession was reduced 5 per cent. further that he was induced to support it. In other words, said Mr. Hepburn, had it not been for that last nickel of reduction the gentleman from Ohio, to quote his own language, would today have been with the insurgents attempting to divide the republican party and to destroy it. "Great God!" exclaimed Mr. Hepburn, "on what tender threads hang everlasting things." (Great laughter and applause.)

The remaining time after Mr. Hepburn concluded—two hours and twenty minutes—was divided equally between Mr. Tawney, of Minnesota, who closed the debate against the bill, and Mr. Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, who concluded for the measure. Mr. Tawney at the outset defended the course of those on the republican side who had not surrendered their convictions that "thrift might follow fawning."

CITES INSTANCES.

He pointed to illustrious instances in the past where republicans had opposed measures advocated by a majority of their colleagues, notably the case of ex-Speaker Reed in the fifty-third congress, when he voted to issue gold interest bearing bonds. He declared that those of his colleagues who believed as he did had been denounced as traitors, their motives had been impugned and they had even been insulted because they had dared to assert and defend what they believed to be the interest of their party, their constituents and their country.

Mr. Tawney argued that if the beet sugar industry were properly protected in a few years it would supply the entire domestic consumption. It was for this reason, he declared, that the sugar trust was seeking through the agency of this bill to cripple and destroy its great rival of the future.

In conclusion Mr. Tawney said that this was the first time republican leaders had proposed to depart from the protective theory. The republican party was bound in honor to keep faith with those whom it had induced to enter the beet sugar industry. If the United States owed a debt to Cuba it should be paid out of the public treasury by the whole people and not alone by the farmers who were growing sugar beets.

DALZELL CLOSES DEBATE.

Mr. Dalzell, in closing the debate for the friends of the bill, declared that it was not an attack upon protection. "It is not a revision of the existing tariff law or its schedules. It will not harm a single American industry or deprive an American workman of a single day's wage. This bill contains a single proposition for reciprocal trade relations and is justified on plain business principles. But it is more than that. It is a step toward the redemption of the pledge we made, not to Cuba, but to ourselves, when we volunteered not to intervene to right the wrongs which she was suffering under the Spanish regime."

Mr. Dalzell insisted that it was our duty now that Cuba was free to be set upon the high road of the world, to see that she started under fair auspices.

While Mr. Dalzell was speaking several of the senators, including Messrs. Elkins, Scott of West Virginia; Spooner, of Wisconsin, and Fairbanks, of Indiana, came into the chamber. Ex-Senator Hiscock, of New York, was also on the floor. The galleries had also filled to overflowing and almost every member was in his seat, so that he had a brilliant and attentive audience. Repeatedly he was applauded by friends of the bill to applause.

Mr. Dalzell concluded by saying that the differential in the Dingley bill was placed there for the benefit of beet sugar growers.

Soon after 3 o'clock the bill was read and considered under the five-minute rule.

IN THE SENATE.

Washington, April 18.—At the conclusion of the routine business in the senate today consideration of a bill to provide for a union railroad station in the District of Columbia was begun. After the bill had been read and several of the amendments of the committee had been adopted, it went over on the objection of Mr. Jones (of Arkansas). A number of minor bills were passed.

At 2 o'clock the unfinished business, the bill temporarily to provide for the administration of affairs of civil government in the Philippine islands and for other purposes, was laid before the senate and the bill was read under an agreement that committee amendments first should be considered.

WILL AID AN ENDOWMENT.

The Knights of Columbus have issued invitations for a pedro party next Friday evening, and the proceeds will be devoted to aiding the effort to endow a chair of secular history in the Catholic university at Washington.

PUMPED HIM OUT

JULIUS EME SWALLOWED A DOSE OF CARBOLIC ACID.

WAS ARRESTED FOR FORGERY

GOT OFFICER TO EXCUSE HIM AND THEN TOOK POISON.

SERIOUS CHARGE PENDING

HAS NOT SUCCEEDED IN GETTING A BONDSMAN.

Julius J. Eme, the insurance agent, swallowed part of the contents of an ounce vial containing diluted carbolic acid shortly after 5 o'clock last evening, just after Constable Bagby had read to him a warrant for his arrest on authority from Tancey's court, issued upon an affidavit made by Mrs. Elizabeth Kanning, charging forgery. Dr. McCausland promptly responded to an immediate call and with a stomach pump, discharged the contents of Eme's stomach and this morning he was sufficiently recovered to appear in Tancey's court to answer to the charge.

Constable Bagby received the warrant about 5 o'clock last evening and went immediately to Eme's home, at 93 Montgomery street. He found his man and took him into custody. Eme asked permission to get his overcoat and requested the officer to say nothing about his new trouble to his wife. Bagby suggested that the best thing to do would be to tell Mrs. Eme all about it, what he was arrested for and arrange with her to get bail, as he would undoubtedly need her services before he was through with the case. Eme admitted that that would probably be the best course to pursue, but requested the officer to break the news. Mrs. Eme was called into the room and Eme was given permission to go to the water closet in the yard. While he was gone Bagby informed Mrs. Eme of the nature of the trouble and shortly Eme returned to the room, but insisted on sitting down on the door step leading into the yard.

ACTED STRANGELY.

He acted rather strangely and on being brought to his feet his wife said: "Why, Jule, what have you been taking?" He made no reply and Constable Bagby approaching him thought he detected the odor of chloroform on his breath. Dr. McCausland, a close-by neighbor, was sent for and he arrived in about three minutes, bringing with him a stomach pump. Contrary to the statement made, Eme offered no resistance to the introduction of the tube, but once during the pumping operation closed his jaws tightly upon it. The doctor told him to keep his mouth open, else he would have to pry it open and fix it with a gag and after that there was no trouble. Eme following every suggestion made by the physician. It required only a few minutes to empty the stomach of its contents and an examination thereof showed the presence of a small quantity of carbolic acid. The physician suggested that the man be allowed to remain at home during the night and to this the constable consented, and remained in the house also, sleeping upon a cot. Before retiring, the constable made a search for the bottle from which the poison was supposed to have been taken, but did not find it; this morning, however, he found it lying on a projection in the back closet. It was an ounce bottle and a small quantity of the fluid still remained in it. Eme passed a comfortable night and this morning arose, ate his breakfast and accompanied the officer down town to the justice's office.

CAUSE OF THE ARREST.

The circumstances leading to the arrest culminated yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Elizabeth Kanning filed an affidavit in Tancey's court charging Eme with having forged her name to a note for $200 and negotiated it with August Schele. The note bears date of November 24, 1896, the same day upon which Eme sold it to Schele. Schele's statement is that on that day Eme came to him with the note and said that Mrs. Kanning wanted to borrow $200 and desired to borrow it through the agency of Eme & Son, and the note was written on one of the printed blanks of that firm. Eme said that Mrs. Kanning did not care to be known in the matter or bother about it, therefore, he (Eme) would retain possession of the note, collect the interest as it became due and act as agent for Mrs. Kanning and Schele both. The agreement was satisfactory to Schele, who was doing business with Eme & Son, and ever since the interest on the note has been paid promptly. Schele carried insurance with Eme and as his premiums became due the interest on the note would be deducted from the premiums or vice versa, and the difference either way would be paid in cash. When Eme's recent troubles came to light Schele secured possession of the note and presented it to Mrs. Kanning for verification. She vehemently protested that she had never signed the note; that the signature was not hers and unequivocally pronounced it a forgery. She consulted her attorney, J. B. Harper, and the further proceedings have already been detailed.

Previous to the filing of the criminal charge Mr. Eme had other troubles piled upon him, of which Mrs. Kanning was the author. In the superior court yesterday afternoon she filed a civil suit against him, demanding $200. As recently as March 5, 1902, Eme got $105.56 from her and on April 1 she paid L. F. Curdes, the real estate agent, a commission of $30 for Eme and paid a cash penalty for taxes to the amount of $12, making $147.56 altogether. This was the result of a real estate deal which Mr. Eme had engineered for her to considerable profit to himself.

HAS NOT FOUND BAIL.

As The Sentinel goes to press Mr. Eme is still sitting in Tancey's court, the guest of Constable Bagby. Friends are out trying to get bondsmen, but the amount of bail has not yet been fixed by the justice, inasmuch as the case has not yet been called. Eme was escorted to his home at noon by the constable and they took dinner together. Eme hopes to be relieved from custody before night, and can be if the bail bond is secured.

QUEEN HAS TYPHOID FEVER

WILHELMINA'S CASE FINALLY DIAGNOSED.

There Is Talk of a Regency in the Netherlands and Parliament May Be Convoked.

The Hague, April 18.—An official bulletin was issued this morning from Castle Loo stating that Queen Wilhelmina passed a fairly quiet night. Her fever continues.

The alarming fever which complicated the queen's condition is now officially admitted to be typhoid.

A special edition of the Official Journal this morning publishes the doctors' statement as follows:

"The supposition, entertained by the queen's physicians since the commencement of her majesty's illness, has become a certainty. It is now established that the queen is suffering from typhoid fever.

"Up to the present time the malady has run its ordinary course."

The question of establishing a regency is being earnestly considered by the Netherlands government, and it is thought probable, in view of the possibly long illness of the queen, that the states general (parliament) will be summoned, in joint session, at an early date to take action in the matter.

LOCAL LINES.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Smith will entertain a company of friends this evening at their home in South Wayne.

The Senior Christian Endeavor society of Grace Reformed church has elected the following officers for the coming year: President, Frank K. Hills; vice president, William Hobson; secretary, Frank Thompson; treasurer, John Knight.

At a meeting of the Women's Missionary society of Grace Reformed church last evening Mrs. Lillian Lecklider was elected delegate to the annual missionary meeting of St. Joseph classis, which will be held at Plymouth, Ind., May 2. Elder L. W. Hills has been elected a delegate from Grace church to the meeting of the classis May 1.

At Saengerbund hall last evening the "Deutsche Bund of Fort Wayne" gave a most delightful entertainment, followed by a dance. The preliminary program consisted of nine numbers, which might be classed as German vaudeville, with none but male actors. All the dialogue and songs were, of course, in German and the large audience was composed in the main of Germans. The Concordia Singing society was present as a body and in some of the choruses was assisted by members of other societies. The sketches and "turns" were by members of the Turner society, and it must be confessed that the hits were made by members of the Knitting mills contingent. It was a jolly entertainment, such as the Germans best enjoy, and was so successful, financial and otherwise, that it may be repeated.

BROTHERS TO DIE

THREE VAN WORMER BOYS ARE FOUND GUILTY.

SENTENCE IS PRONOUNCED

END OF MURDER TRIAL AT HUDSON, N. Y.

ASSASSINATED AN UNCLE

CALLED OLD MAN TO DOOR AND SHOT HIM.

Hudson, N. Y., April 18.—The jury in the case of Burton, Willis and Frederick Van Wormer, charged with the murder of their uncle, Peter A. Hallenbeck, today returned a verdict of murder in the first degree against all three of the accused.

The death sentence was pronounced a few minutes after the jury brought in its verdict.

The prisoners were sentenced to be electrocuted at Clinton prison, Dannemora, during the week beginning May 30 next. The case will be carried to the court of appeals, notice of which will act as a stay of execution.

The crime was committed last Christmas eve. Early in the evening of that day the three brothers and Harvey Bruce, their cousin, who is also under indictment for participation in the murder, drove to the Hallenbeck home at Greenport, this (Columbia) county. The young men wore false faces and also wore their coats turned inside out. Hollenbeck, who was a very old man, opened the door in response to their knocking and, as he did so, they fired upon him, inflicting wounds of which he died in a short time. At their trial, which lasted about two weeks, the accused men declared they went to Hollenbeck's house merely for the purpose of frightening him, with no thought of injuring him. Bruce, who secured a separate trial, testified against the brothers.

APPOINTS NEW COUNCILMAN

MAYOR NAMES F. J. GOMBERT FOR EIGHTH WARD.

Simon Freistroffer Declined Place Made Vacant by Resignation of H. W. Kohrman.

Upon the resignation of Henry W. Kohrman, elected councilman from the Eighth ward, at the last council meeting, Mayor Berghoff appointed Simon Freistroffer to fill the vacancy. Mr. Freistroffer failed to qualify and furthermore indicated that he would not qualify, whereupon Mayor Berghoff today made another appointment, naming Frederick J. Gombert to fill the vacancy. Mr. Gombert is a butcher, doing business at 102 Maumee avenue; is a progressive and popular resident of the ward and was a red hot candidate for the position to which he has now been appointed at the last municipal election, held a year ago. He will accept the appointment and will qualify in time to take his seat at the next meeting of the council on Tuesday evening.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.

The laundry building of the Abbot sanitarium, on Wayne Trace, owned by Louis Fox, burned last evening, together with an adjoining barn, belonging to Eugene Van Meter. F. E. Peterson and family occupied the laundry as a residence, Mr. Peterson being the sanitarium watchman, and they lost nearly all their household furniture. The origin of the fire is not known. Neither the sanitarium nor the boiler house took fire, although they were close to the burned building. The laundry house was the building in which the baths were located before the sanitarium was built. The loss is estimated at $400.

WILL AWARD THE CONTRACT.

The quarterly conference of the Berry street M. E. church will hold a special meeting in the church this evening for the purpose of awarding the contract for the construction of the new church. The contract will be given to Dudley & Lessler, of Leipsic, Ohio, and work on the new building will begin without delay.

Smiley N. Chambers, a widely known Indiana republican politician, is a guest at the New Aveline. Mr. Chambers' home is at Indianapolis and his mission in the city is a political one.

Kodol

Digests what you Eat

Dyspepsia Cure

The medical profession is one of the most conservative in the world. It is well that it should be so. We want no experimenting with our lives or health. The physician is naturally and justifiably careful to prescribe no remedy until well satisfied of its merits. So it is no small testimonial to the worth of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure that it is coming into general use among physicians of all classes. They appreciate even more readily than the layman that it gives weak stomachs just the rest they need and are prescribing it freely with wonderfully successful results. Nodieting is necessary. Eat all you want. While you are strengthening the body with wholesome food Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is restoring the stomach to perfect health by relieving it of its work. Don't be satisfied with merely temporary relief when this remedy offers a complete cure. "I have used in my practice quite a lot of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure with no failures but relief in almost all cases," writes Dr. W. L. Wallace of Kingstree, S. C. "After an active practice of forty-five years this is the first time I have ever had occasion to publicly advise all dyspeptics that they have a certain remedy in Kodol Dyspepsia Cure."

Then don't expect to be cured in a minute! It takes a little time to get your blood pure and rich. We haven't room to explain. Just ask your doctor why Ayer's Sarsaparilla is such a good medicine for debility, weak nerves, and indigestion.

SWEET BREATH

A test was made to find if just the leaving off of coffee alone would produce an equal condition of health as when coffee is left off and Postum Food Coffee used in its place.

A man from Clinton, Wis., made the experiment. He says: "About a year ago I left off drinking coffee and tea and began to use Postum. For several years previous my system had been in wretched condition. I always had a thickly furred, bilious tongue and foul breath and often accompanied with severe headaches. I was troubled all the time with chronic constipation so that I was morose in disposition and almost discouraged.

At the end of the first week after making the change from coffee to Postum I witnessed a marvelous change in myself. My once coated tongue cleared off, my small appetite increased, breath became sweet and the headaches ceased entirely. One thing I wish to state emphatically, you have in Postum a virgin remedy for constipation, for I certainly had about the worst case ever known among mortals and I am completely cured of it. I feel, in every way, like a new person.

During the last summer I concluded that I would experiment to see if the Postum kept me in good shape or whether I had gotten well from just leaving off coffee. So I quit Postum for quite a time and drank cocoa and water. I found out, before two weeks were past, that something was wrong and I began to get costive as of old. It was evident the liver was not working properly, so I became convinced it was not the avoidance of coffee alone that cured me, but the great value came from the regular use of Postum."

The duke of Manchester has been cleared of the odium of bankruptcy and is now entitled to his seat in the house of lords. Paw-in-law Zimmerman is by degrees getting all that's coming to him.

While the council committee of the whole is trying to dispose of the city traction franchise sight should not be lost of the fact that the Fort Wayne and Southwestern line is not yet down town. That matter calls loudly for settlement of some kind that will get the terminus of that line less than half a mile from the city's center.

William M. Hoey, a Muncie man, who as collector of customs at Nogales, Arizona, was charged with smuggling Chinese into the country and reaping a fair profit on his industry, has been acquitted. This may or may not be good news to Charles F. W. Neely, also of Muncie, who was lately tried in the Cuban courts for postal embezzlements and given penalties sufficient to keep him on the stone pile till the millenium, if it is as far off as most people suspect.

The speech delivered in the house by Representative Cushman, republican member from the state of Washington, will command more than common attention of the public. Mr. Cushman made it tolerably clear that of the more than three hundred and fifty representatives comprising the lower branch of congress not more than half a dozen have anything to say as to what legislation shall be enacted. The speaker and the rules committee are in fact the house of representatives. The rules under which the house operates, or as Mr. Cushman put it, by which "the house is operated," he declared a "disgrace to the country." The plaint is not new, but it is novel to behold a republican member of the house rising to such courageous denouncement of the conditions which enable the presiding officer flanked by three or four members of the majority party to determine absolutely what measures shall be considered and determined in the popular branch of the legislative branch of the government. Since Speaker Reed first made such arbitrary use of the rules to "compel dispatch of business" the power of the speaker has been growing until today he is almost absolute. Cushman has stirred things up in a fashion that it is hoped will lead to a general non-partisan revolt in the house against this arbitrary system that may well be looked upon as wholly subversive of the principles of democratic government.

That much of the trouble in the Philippines has grown out of the widely different purposes animating, respectively, the military and the civil authorities we have sent over there is not much to be doubted. The military has been employed to reduce the people by war and the fear of force to a state of absolute subjection. Too often, as the testimony taken by the senate committee discloses, the military has operated on the idea that the natives were to be "licked" into a state of decent respect for American sovereignty, without much planning for results beyond getting them into a condition where they either would not or could not fight longer. That far the campaign has been something of a temporary success. But the application of the "water cure," and the indiscriminate burning of populous villages and towns has doubtless bred a hatred of the American name that will plague this government for many years, no matter how fortunate the people may find themselves to be under the sovereignty of the United States. The fact would seem to be that in many sections the people have been given too much reason to believe that American rule could not mean anything essentially different from what Spanish rule had been. Out of the investigation the senate committee is now conducting there will doubtless come a change of policy that will do much good, both to the natives and to the government.

The acting treasurer's report shows a balance in the treasury of $4,788.27; receipts for the year, $7,279.44; total balance, $12,067.71. Warrants paid out during year, $7,342.48; balance on hand April 16, 1902, was $4,725.23.

The recorder's report showed no indebtedness and the treasury balance is ample to carry through the year and leave a small balance, which will not necessitate the increase of dues or fees. There was also shown that on December 31, last, the subordinate commandery membership was 3,767.

PLANS OF ELLEN M. STONE.

Boston, April 18.—Miss Ellen M. Stone, the missionary to Bulgaria, who was ransomed from the brigands and who returned to this country last week, last night gave to the American board of commissioners of foreign missions a statement in which she says that it having been presented to her as an imperative duty to recite her experiences in captivity, in a public way, it was in her heart to devote the proceeds toward reimbursing any one who may have embarrassed themselves in providing the ransom.

The further hope grew that she might do something for those missionary purposes to which she had given her life; such, for instance, as the establishment of an industrial school in Macedonia, in which young men may be trained in legitimate occupations, so that they may not grow up to become brigands.

They Make You Right In One Night

Little Brownies Offer You

THE MOST ABSOLUTE, HARMLESS, AND ECONOMICAL, THE SAFEST, SUREST, QUICKEST AND BEST PREVENTATIVE AND CURE ON THE MARKET FOR

CONSTIPATION	Indigestion	Abdominal Pains
Foul and Sick Stomach	Dull Headache	Lassitude
Biliousness	Foul Breath	That Tired Feeling
Sick Headache	Bad Taste in the Mouth	General Debility
Dyspepsia	Coated Tongue	Sour Stomach
Disorders of the Liver	Backache	Heartburn

The Brownies Directions!

Little Brownies Stomach and Liver Pills are purely vegetable and are made from the purest and most active drugs the market affords. In constipation, violent cathartics are not necessary, and their continued use is very often most injurious. The surest cure is by the use of the Little Brownies Stomach and Liver Pills which will relieve the constipation, increase the activity of the liver, and gradually tone up and strengthen the muscles and nerves of the stomach and bowels, until finally they are able to do their work without assistance, and a permanent cure is effected. The dose of the pills should be at first proportioned to the needs of the individual, until an active evacuation of the bowels is produced, then reduce the dose sufficiently to insure one thorough movement a day. As the muscles and nerves regain their strength and tone, the dose may be gradually reduced until the Little Brownies are no longer needed. A chronic case of constipation requires long continued treatment, but if the above directions are closely followed a permanent cure is assured. Exercise for persons of sedentary habits, the use of fruits, and regular habits of food will materially assist in the cure.

A CHANGE OF MINISTERS

REV. J. C. DORWIN GOES TO SIMPSON M. E. CHURCH.

Replaces Rev. A. S. Wooten, Who Was Appointed to the Charge at Conference Meeting.

Rev. J. C. Dorwin, who has been pastor of the M. E. church at Pendleton during the past year, will be the new pastor of Simpson M. E. church to succeed Rev. J. A. Patterson, instead of Rev. A. S. Wooten, who was appointed to the charge at the recent conference meeting at Marion.

Notification of the change came to Presiding Elder W. E. Daniel last evening in the form of a telegram from Bishop Joyce. Rev. Wooten has been in charge at North Manchester for the past year and has been assigned to Fairmount to succeed Rev. Dorwin, who was appointed to that charge at the conference meeting. No reason for the change is known, but it is believed to be due to a request from one of the two ministers. Simpson church is considered a more desirable charge than Fairmount, paying a better salary and having a larger membership. Rev. Dorwin is expected to arrive in the city tomorrow and will probably preach at both services Sunday.

Rev. Norris, of the Berry street church here, is preparing to remove his household goods to his new charge at Winchester and left at noon today for that city, where he will preach on Sunday. The Winchester congregation recently completed a handsome $30,000 church and a fine parsonage. The congregation is somewhat larger than Berry street, though the salary is the same. Rev. J. K. Walts, the new pastor of Berry street church, sent here from Logansport, will arrive in the city this evening and will preach on Sunday.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT IN HEAD

MRS. P. A. MORAN PAINFULLY INJURED.

Was Watching Mr. Moran, Who Was Shooting Rats—Bullet Glanced From a Stone.

Mrs. P. A. Moran, of 201 East Wayne street, was accidentally shot in the head yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock, and although the bullet inflicted a painful flesh wound, it is not believed that the results will be serious.

Mr. Moran was shooting rats with a 22-calibre rifle and one of the bullets glanced off a stone and struck Mrs. Moran in the right temple, near the eye, imbedding itself in the flesh. The injured lady was carried into the house, where Dr. Rosenthal extracted the leaden pellet. Had the bullet varied slightly in its course Mrs. Moran's eye would have been put out and a dangerous wound would have been inflicted.

THEY WENT SIGHT-SEEING.

Yesterday afternoon General Manager Melsch chaperoned a party of Fort Wayne gentlemen, including Charles McCulloch, Engineer F. M. Randall and the board of public works, out over the line of the Southwestern. At Huntington the construction engine was brought into requisition and the party made the trip out over the new extension as far as rails have been laid. The gentlemen visited the famous spring discovered west of Huntington and renewed their youth by copious draughts of its revivifying waters.

A large and jolly crowd attended the "Penny Fair" at the Mulqueen Dancing Academy last evening. The fair will continue tonight and Saturday night.

WORK IS TIED UP.

The work of extending the Fort Wayne and Southwestern line west from Huntington will be tied up for a matter of four or five days by reason of an accident to the steam shovel which put the machinery out of service yesterday. Workmen have gone to Toledo to secure the necessary repairs, but in the meantime all work has been suspended until the shovel can be placed in operation again.

A TIME OF DANGER!

Thousands in Peril from Blood Diseases and Nerve Troubles Developed During the Winter Months.

Paine's Celery Compound

The Great Spring Blood Purifier, Nerve Bracer, and Health Builder.

Paine's Celery Compound is the wonder of the age! Its marvelous virtues are discussed amongst interested medical men, and its cures are talked of at every fireside.

As a spring health giver, Paine's Celery Compound stands far ahead of all other known remedies; it has no worthy competitor in the vast field of medicine.

To a large extent, the present popularity of Paine's Celery Compound is due to the fact that it has accomplished some of its most astonishing cures in the spring season—a time when men and women usually complain of ill health, loss of vitality, tired feelings—a time when people feel dull, listless, despondent, and ambitionless.

Today, there are thousands of business men, mechanics, farmers, and dear wives and mothers, too, who, though able to walk around, are nevertheless sadly "out of health."

At this season, Paine's Celery Compound is the great health restorer and strength giver for the "out of health" people—for those who are perilously nearing some organic disease. Paine's Celery Compound used at once will quickly remove every trace of poison from the blood, brace up the weak nerves, build up the tissues, and tone the digestive organism.

If you, dear reader, feel that your health is not as robust and vigorous as it should be, let us honestly suggest the use of Paine's Celery Compound that has so wonderfully blessed your neighbors and friends. Be assured, "it makes sick people well."

HIS FREEDOM WILL BE SHORT

FAMOUS SWINDLER TO LEAVE SING SING SATURDAY.

After Serving a Sentence for Diamond Swindle, Goes to France for Stealing $1,500,000.

New York, April 18.—When Louis Alfred Balensi leaves Sing Sing next Saturday he will have served a six years' sentence, made shorter by commutation, for misappropriating $25,000 worth of jewelry. His freedom will be brief, according to the Herald. At the door of the prison he probably will be served with a federal warrant charging him with the embezzlement of approximately $1,560,000 in France.

Louis Alfred Balensi, or, as he is known in this country, William A. Bellwood, was born in Paris 49 years ago. In 1891 he organized the "Societie Francaise de Banque et de Change," purporting to do a general stock brokerage business. Balensi was the managing director.

All went well for five years, then Balensi disappeared. Two weeks later the tribunal of commerce of the Seine declared the society bankrupt and a similar judgment was pronounced against Balensi. The investigations proceeded and finally the chamber of indictments of the court of appeals of Paris declared, on July 16, 1897, that Balensi had not only misappropriated 6,800,000 francs, but also had converted to his own use a large quantity of valuable jewelry which had been intrusted to his care. His arrest was ordered.

Balensi located in Philadelphia, where, under the alias of William A. Bellwood, or William S. Redwood, he opened a jewerly store. Early in 1897 Bellwood obtained $25,000 worth of jewelry from a New York firm on a memorandum, and proceeded to hypothecate at one of the largest pawn-broking establishments in the metropolis. He was arrested and sent to Sing Sing for six years.

It has been discovered in the meantime that Balensi and Bellwood were identical and during his larceny trials a United States marshal hovered near-by with a federal warrant, which had been issued after an investigation had been made of the embezzlement charges in France by the United States ambassador, General Horace Porter.

THREE BISHOPS SELECTED.

Cincinnati, April 18.—At the opening of the Episcopal House of Bishops yesterday holy communion was celebrated by Bishop Doane, of Albany, assisted by the bishops of Washington and Long Island.

Bishops were selected as follows: Salina (western Kansas), Nathaniel Seymor Thomas, rector of the church of Holy Apostles, Philadelphia, and son of the late bishop of Kansas; Honolulu, Henry Bonn Restarick, rector of St. Paul's church of San Diego, Cal.; Porto Rico, James H. Van Buren, formerly of Lynn, Mass., and later of San Juan.

The new bishops cannot be consecrated for two or three months, awaiting the approval of the committees. Most of the day was devoted to considering the admission of the Mexican church.

It was finally decided to admit the Episcopal church of Mexico, which has heretofore been affiliated with the Episcopalians of the United States. The Mexican church had selected as bishops the Rev. Henry Forrester, the Rev. Fansto Orihuela and the Rev. Jose Antonio Corrion.

DEATH OF A PUGILIST.

Chicago, April 18.—"Wild Bill" Hanrahan, the pugilist, died at 6 a. m. today at the county hospital, after several days' illness of pneumonia. Hanrahan was about to enter the ring when it was discovered that he was sick. A doctor was called and discovered that the pugilist had a temperature of 104. He was immediately sent to the hospital.

HOGG IS BACK IN AMERICA.

New York, April 18.—Rotund, jolly, a heavy weight and intensely American, ex-Governor Stephen Hogg, of Texas, returned from England yesterday, on the Teutonic. He was the most popular man aboard the boat on the way over. Ex-Governor Hogg has a voice like a lion, that could be heard all over the pier.

"Let's drop the kneebreeches incident," he said. "I don't want to talk about that foolishness. You know, they have some ancient customs over in London—tight trousers, tight vests, tight coats, swords and rooster feathers in your hat when you're presented to the king, and a lot of other tomfoolery. But I'm too good an American to stand for that. There has been too much made of my refusal to meet the king.

"I am not too much interested in the Texas oil fields to engage in politics. If they were to nominate Bryan again I believe he would be elected. Or Hill, if nominated, could be elected. It is certain that the next president will be a democrat."

Fifty-three thousand loyal Americans braved the more or less chilling April winds yesterday and from bleachers and grand stands witnessed the opening of the National league base ball season in four cities. A month ago base ball matters all over the country were in a badly mixed state, but when order began to be restored the affairs were speedily unraveled and the season of 1902 opened without a ripple and there was not a suggestion that anything but the most dove-like peace and lamb-like fraternity had ever existed among and between the promoters of the game. Quite a number of new names are found on the rosters of the National league and the newcomers seem to get along about as well as anybody. Notwithstanding that the season is early, the men untried and unseasoned and the weather rather cold, the games as a rule were very creditable ones. In the four games played the eight clubs made a total of 60 hits, New York leading with 13 off Felix and Voorhees, while Boston stands at the bottom, having succeeded in getting only 3 off Donovan, of Brooklyn. Matthewson, the great phenom of last season, managed to score the first shut-out of the season, allowing Philadelphia to get but four hits. He scored first simply because the Philadelphia-New York game commenced an hour earlier than the Pittsburg-St. Louis game, for Phillips won a similar victory over St. Louis and by a closer score, which was 1 to 0. Yerkes, who was seen here last year with the Marions, pitched for St. Louis. Off the 60 hits but 18 runs were scored, New York leading with 7 and Philadelphia and St. Louis bringing up in the rear with none apiece. The scorers succeeded in discovering only 16 errors all told and of these St. Louis made 4, while Pittsburg and Boston played errorless games. New York led with an attendance, having 24,000 present to see the first ball tossed, and Brooklyn, just across the creek, tailended with 9,000. Today New York and Philadelphia lay off while the other clubs play as yesterday.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, April 18.—Continued absence of rain sufficient to relieve the drought conditions in the southwest brought excited buying in wheat at the opening today. Cables were a little lower, but no attention was paid to them. Trade was heavy for a time and nearly everyone in the pit wanted to buy. Kansas was promised no rain today or tomorrow by the weather bureau and that added to the fear of the shorts. Short sellers of the last few days in July options hurried to cover their lines and there was a good upturn in that delivery. May started ⅛c to ⅜c higher at 74⅝c to 74⅞c, but the demand fell off soon and May slipped back for a moment to 74¼c. Later the price began to work upwards again and May sold at 74½c. Local receipts were 38 cars, none of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 98 cars, making a total for the three points of 136 cars, against 197 last week and 306 a year ago. Argentine shipments were 992,000 bushels for the week against 744,000 bushels the same week last year.

Weather conditions continued to govern the wheat market throughout the session. Bullish reports came in, but on light showers and predictions of more there was liberal selling. May declined and closed weak, ⅝@¾c lower, at 73¾@73⅞c.

Corn opened strong but nervous. Cables were higher, the southwest was bullish and bought liberally in this market, and fear of a damaged hay crop because of the dry weather reacted on corn. Receipts continue small, commission houses bought freely and yesterday's good cash demand was still apparent. May opened ¼c to ⅜c up at 62⅜c to 62⅞c, slipped off on brisk local selling and rallied sharply to 62⅝c. At that price trade quieted. Receipts were 66 cars.

Corn fluctuated unsteadily after wheat and sold as low as 61⅞c, closing weak, ⅜c lower, at 62c.

Oats had a big general trade at the opening and were strong. The weather means more to oats than to any other grain and drought damage fears filled the minds of the shorts. The sentiment was bullish and nervous, the strength in other grains aiding in the early upturn. July and September options were bought liberally by receiving and commission houses. May was still a question to the trade. May opened ½c up at 44c, eased to 43½c and rallied to 43¾c. Receipts were 126 cars.

Provisions were quiet. Opening prices were firmer on grains and a steady hog market. May pork opened 2½c up at $16.95 and sold off to $16.87½; May lard 2½c to 5c higher at $9.75 to $9.77½. There was little business in ribs, July opening 5c lower at $9.40.

ABOUT THE CITY HALL.

The board of works met in regular session last night to transact such business as might be presented, but particularly to hear remonstrators to the resolutions to pave Maumee avenue, West Main street, part of Columbia street, Maiden lane and Van Buren street. As predicted by The Sentinel yesterday the Van Buren street resolution went over until next year on account of the water works improvements being made there, but the surprise of the evening was that there was not a single objection to any of the improvements contemplated. The resolutions were therefore confirmed and bids for the work will be received until May 8, when they will be opened. All the usual paving materials will be included in the competition and it is expected that work on all the jobs will be inaugurated by June 1 at the farthest. A petition to open Purman street was again received and filed and W. F. Graeter was given permission to build a cement sidewalk in front of his and other premises on Jakson street from curb to curb between Washington and Wayne streets. A petition to substitute a new plat for Berghoff's addition was carried over and the petition of the Noble Machine company for permission to lay a railroad track on part of Hayden street was denied.

The Western Gas Construction company has been granted a permit to build a brick addition at a cost of $7,000; F. A. Betts, addition to house on Swinney avenue to cost $200; Frank Cato, addition to house on West DeWald street, $500.

ABOUT THE COURT HOUSE.

Louis Frankel has filed a complaint against Earl Miller and the Electric Light company, supplemental to execution.

The case of Matthias Emrick vs. the Wabash company has been appealed from Bullerman's court by the defendant.

George (Georgia) E. Lewis has commenced divorce proceedings against Roy J. Lewis, alleging cruelty and other statutory reasons for separation.

As noted elsewhere Elizabeth H. Kanning sues J. J. Eme to recover on account; demand, $200.

Before Judge Aiken, in the superior court, upon motion of Phil Colerick, A. J. Read was admitted to practice law at the Allen county bar. Mr. Read passed a very creditable examination a year ago, but was not at the time sworn in. He will receive a degree of L.L.B. from the law department of the University of Michigan in June.

IN JUSTICES' COURTS.

Justice France this morning fined William Bates, of Washington township, $1 and costs for obstructing the public highway. The fine was promptly paid.

SMILEY N. CHAMBERS HERE.

Hon. Smiley N. Chambers, of Indianapolis, one of the foremost lawyers of the state and equally prominent as a politician, is a guest at the New Aveline. Mr. Chambers protests, however, that his visit at this time is purely a business one and has not even the remotest relation to politics. "I am not actively engaged in politics," said Mr. Chambers this afternoon, "though I am, of course, more or less interested in political affairs in a general way." Mr. Chambers believes the coming republican state convention at Indianapolis will be the greatest gathering of its kind ever held by Indiana republicans, for he says the interest is widespread all over the state. "It is four or five years since I last visited Fort Wayne," said he, "but your city seems to be moving along nicely, and I can easily note marked evidences of its healthy growth. You ought to get more interurban lines into Fort Wayne. They are doing a wonderful thing for Indianapolis." Mr. Chambers will leave this evening for Chicago.

HIS MIND SHATTERED.

Upon his recent visit to the Michigan City prison W. P. Cooper had a conversation of some length with Claude Smith, the young man convicted of murder in this city some years ago. Mr. Cooper says Smith's mind is badly affected, and he was unable to arouse any interest upon the part of Smith toward this city or his former acquaintances here.

THREE FREIGHT TRAINS MAKE GOOD RUNS.

LONG LIST OF ACCIDENTS

JAMES WHITE LOSES THREE FINGERS OF RIGHT HAND.

LABOR RIOT AT DONALDSON

ITALIAN WORKMEN SHOOT AN AMERICAN BOY.

The Pennsylvania and the Nickel Plate roads yesterday smashed all previous records in the way of fast freight runs. On the Pennsylvania a stock train of twelve cars left Fifty-fifth street, Chicago, at 3:45 yesterday afternoon and pulled into the east yards in this city at 8:20 last evening, consuming en route four hours and thirty-five minutes, including one hour and fifteen minutes detentions at various crossings and passing stations. Deducting the detentions, it leaves the actual running time three hours and twenty-five minutes, and beats all previous fast freight runs by a handsome "majority." The distance covered was 144 miles. The sixty-one miles between Plymouth and Fort Wayne were covered in one hour and thirty-five minutes and there were shorter stretches that were covered at a much higher rate of speed. The train was in charge of Conductor H. I. Webber, hauled by engine No. 287, with D. Truesdale at the throttle and A. Downey at the scoop. The run was a feat which reflects credit upon the engineer and the fireman and places them at the head of the list in the line of fast freight runs on the Pittsburg.

The record-smasher on the Nickel Plate was made with engine 127, one of the new Brooks locomotives, with Martin O'Brien at the throttle and Frank Lenwell at the scoop. Including all detentions this run was made from Chicago to Fort Wayne in five hours and twenty minutes. The train, besides the caboose, included forty-four refrigerator cars, loaded with dressed beef from the Nelson & Morris packing house, and its tonnage was upwards of 1,500. The Sentinel cannot go into details concerning the run, but it is informed that there were a number of detentions, which, added to the weight of the train, makes the run phenomenal.

No. 819, a big compound freight engine, hauled the Wabash's Continental limited from Huntington to Peru last Tuesday at the rate of 55 miles an hour. The regular passenger engine was disabled by a fine blowing out.

The Bluffton News tells of a fast run that was made on the Lake Erie and Western road last Wednesday by a freight train. That paper says: George Jordon, engineer on the northbound through freight on the Lake Erie, made a record-breaking run from Bluffton to Fort Wayne yesterday afternoon. While his train was in the local yards a telegram was sent to him that his wife was dangerously ill in Fort Wayne and it was feared she could not live. It was fifteen minutes before Jordon's train was due to leave Bluffton, but the dispatcher wired orders permitting him to pull out at once and gave him a clear track and right of way to Fort Wayne. The steady engineer and anxious husband wasted not a minute, but was soon rolling toward Fort Wayne under a full head of steam. It was 2:24 when Jordon pulled out of the Bluffton station and at 3 o'clock he turned his train over to the yard men at Fort Wayne. He made the run of twenty-five miles in thirty-six minutes and took time to set out a car at Kingsland. Jordon has a record for making up lost time, but his best run with a freight train was that in which he raced to the bedside of his sick wife. Mrs. Jordon was living yet today."

WABASH PAY CAR.

The Wabash pay car will arrive in the city at an earlier date this month than usual. It will be here next Tuesday, the 22d, and will distribute a large amount of cash among the shopmen.

FORD EXPLAINS THE ORDER.

Regarding the notice recently published by Superintendent Cushing, of the eastern division, concerning the duties of a local ticket agent, E. A. Ford, general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania, says: "It would seem that the notice referred to is simply a reprint of an old one—similar notices having been posted in the stations of the Pennsylvania lines west for ten years or more, but having become worn, and in some cases, obliterated. Superintendent Cushing printed and posted new ones, which would seem the proper thing to do. No injustice will be done any one who has a right to enter the ticket offices, and we believe our patrons will agree with us that the ticket agents should not be called upon to make storage rooms of their offices for satchels, packages or parcels of any kind—a proper place for such deposits being provided in the baggage room. A ticket agent who performs his duty to the public properly will have no time to attend to business of this kind."

TO VISIT THE OLD COUNTRY.

Peter Harnishfeger, of the Pittsburg round house, will visit the scenes of his boyhood in Germany, leaving next Tuesday with the expectation of remaining abroad three months. On the journey Mr. Harnishfeger will be accompanied by his son, James, who is also employed in the round house.

WILL WORK DAY AND NIGHT.

Until the ground has been graded and the excavations completed at the site of the new Pennsylvania round house, the steam shovel will have a double crew and will be in operation day and night. Nothing can be done towards building the additions to the machine shops until the old round house has been removed, and the removal cannot be effected until the new round house is up and in operation.

A TRIO OF OLD ENGINEERS.

P. H. Keegan, Henry Jones and Thomas Telley, knights of the throttle, spent the day with friends in Crestline, Ohio. These gentlemen were recently retired from active service on the Pittsburg road, but they have not lost interest in the road and their former associates and make occasional trips over the line, renewing acquaintances and noting changes and improvements. This trio of engineers were nearly a half a century at the throttle and the aggregate of their service is over 137 years.

SOCIAL A SUCCESS.

There were fully 200 people in attendance at the social of the Ladies' auxiliary to the Machinists' union last evening, and every guest sings praises of the manner in which the affair was conducted. All say they never had a better time. The early hours were devoted to progressive pedro, followed by ice cream and cake. After refreshments the floor was cleared of furniture and the dancing began. The ladies are greatly encouraged by the success of the affair and will give other socials in the future.

LABOR TROUBLE AT DONALDSON

The trouble arising from the dismissal of a number of American workmen and hiring an equal number of Italians by Mr. Clifford, the contractor who is doing the track work for the Pennsylvania company at Donaldson, took on a serious aspect last Tuesday, when Denver Fetters was shot by one of the foreigners. Luckily the gun used was not heavily charged with powder and the shot merely penetarted the flesh of the body and hips. The people at Donaldson will neither board the Italians nor sell them any provisions and the contractor had to take them to Plymouth, where bunk cars were provided upon a side track. The shooting occurred at these cars, where a party of boys congregated, it is alleged, for the purpose of stoning the men. No further trouble is apprehended.

ELECTRICITY BEATS STEAM.

A dispatch from Cleveland tells of a race between an electric car on the Lake Shore Electric railway and a train on the Lake Shore road, wherein the latter was beaten. The electric car is said to have attained a speed of over seventy miles an hour and to have maintained it for a considerable distance.

THE UNLUCKY ONES.

The present week is being characterized by an unusual number of accidents among the railway and shop employes, and while the majority of the accidents were not of a very serious character, three or four of them leave the victims more or less crippled for life. This is the case with James White, who is employed in the metre department of the Electric works. While he was operating a punch this morning his right hand was caught in the machinery and the ends of the second, third and fourth fingers were clipped off. Mr. White, who is a young fellow, was taken in charge by Dr. Maurice Rosenthal, who dressed the wounded hand at his office.

Wayne Templar, a machinist at the Wabash shops, was using a coal chisel in clipping a casting, when a piece of the metal struck his right eye, cutting the ball, but not permanently injuring the sight. Dr. M. F. Porter attended him.

Machinist A. M. Ringle, of the Pittsburg shops, had a foot bruised by a piece of steel rail, which he was placing in his drill press, falling upon the member. He will be laid up a day or two.

E. S. Turner, a machinist, fell yesterday, striking his back against a bench and bruising the flesh badly.

J. B. Fuhs, a truckman at the Pittsburg freight house, had a hand caught beneath a piece of freight that he was handling and the member was bruised and skinned to the extent that Mr. Fuhs had to relinquish work.

Brakeman Berry, who resides in Kalamazoo and is employed on the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, had his right shoulder bone broken yesterday while his train was at Lagrange. He was sent to his home, where the company's surgeon is attending him.

Charles Hardendorf, who is employed in the lumber yards of the Pennsylvania company, had the middle finger of his left hand pinched off at the first joint, while manipulating the coupling apparatus of a car. There is a sharp curve in the tracks where the coupling was made and Mr. Hardendorf was on the inner side where the space between the cars is greatly reduced because of the curve. His finger was caught between the lever of one car and the end sill of the other. Mr. Hardendorf was taken to St. Joseph hospital, where Dr. Siemen trimmed up the ragged end of the finger.

William Elz, who took a position at the Wabash shops on Wednesday, met with a painful accident yesterday. He was at work in the scrap iron bin, when someone threw in some pieces of iron. One of the pieces hit and cut Mr. Elz's head frightfully. The blow rendered the unfortunate man senseless and it was several minutes afterwards that he was able to crawl from the bin and report at the offices, where the company's surgeon was called to attend him.

WEEKLY ENGINE OUTPUT.

Nine engines were turned out of the Pittsburg shops during the week after receiving repairs. Nos. 162, 303, 165, 250, 148 and 402 received heavy repairs and Nos. 289, 322 and 178 received light repairs. This is regarded a pretty good week's work.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Blacksmith David Murray, of the Wabash shops, is kept from his forge by sickness.

Pittsburg Engineer B. F. Campbell is off duty on account of the sickness of his little son.

Division Freight Agent W. A. Spratt, of the Wabash, spent a few hours in the city this morning.

Thomas Potter, of the Pittsburg shops, is sick, and Philip Dierstein is looking after private business.

Eugene Pauley, of the Electric works, has returned from Antwerp, where he attended the funeral of a friend.

General Foreman T. B. Hunt, of the Chicago shops of the Pennsylvania company, was in the city on company business today.

Blacksmith E. A. Payne resumed work at the Pittsburg shops this morning, after a few days' absence on account of private business.

Pittsburg Fireman W. E. Dunmeyer, who was off duty two or three weeks, visiting friends in the country, reported for work this morning.

Conductor W. B. Kitselman, of the Nickel Plate, is off duty, and Conductor Hindel, who was off duty a few days, reported for work this morning.

Yard Engineer Charles Lehr, of the Pittsburg, is taking a lay off, and Engineer Jornard is manipulating the throttle of the shifting engine in the meantime.

Yardmaster Pratt, of the Wabash, has placed two more switchmen on his force, the new men being F. F. Kemp, formerly of the Pittsburg, and R. H. Brown, who recently came here from the west.

Contracts were let last week by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy for fifty new engines, costing in round numbers $850,000. All are of the consolidated type and must be delivered by Dec. 1.

May 1 is the date fixed by the trunk lines and the Central Passenger association for abolishing all second-class fares between Chicago and New York and the making of $18 the uniform differential rate.

Indianapolis Journal: "The report is revived that the Wabash intends to build from Indianapolis to Huntington, Ind., to connect with its main line. It is an old project of the company which has been revived."

Harry Thompson, the Wabash brakeman who was shot through the shoulder by Conductor Seaton a few nights ago, has quit the Wabash road and will probably leave Peru also. He was not badly injured by the bullet.

A recent report shows that the Young Men's Christian association, of Philadelphia, has 1,850 active members. Recent additions to its buildings have cost several thousand dollars and include ten marble-lined shower baths and a large conservatory.

On the middle division of the Wabash extensive improvements are planned this season. Seventy-four miles of the main line will be relaid with steel rails weighing eighty pounds to the yard, 337 miles reballasted with gravel, and 250,000 new ties placed under the track.

As a result of the anti-exchange pass agreement, two of the big conventions billed to take place in the east this summer have been changed to western points and more changes are likely to occur from the same cause. The cities who are the losers by this change are Philadelphia and Washington.

Clyde U. Hench and M. J. Murphy, of the Wabash shops, went to the Penn hospital this morning. The former has an injured finger and the latter is sick.

The Central Foundry company is doing a good business in the way of making sash weights, cistern tops, etc. Yesterday the company delivered four tons of their foundry's products to the Indiana School for Feeble Minded Youths and placed an order on the books from a prominent Logansport firm.

Owing to a boycott which has been in effect for some time over the Williamson County Electric Coal Belt railroad, a proposition is being considered by the Illinois Central to purchase the road and turn it into a steam railroad, thereby shortening its road to Marion and giving better passenger service. The electric road has been in operation only a few months.

CATARRH

The treatment of Catarrh with antiseptic and astringent washes, lotions, salves, medicated tobacco and cigarettes or any external or local application, is just as senseless as would be kindling a fire on top of the pot to make it boil. True, these give temporary relief, but the cavities and passages of the head and the bronchial tubes soon fill up again with mucus.
Taking cold is the first step towards Catarrh, for it checks perspiration, and the poisonous acids and vapors which should pass off through the skin, are thrown back upon the mucous membrane or inner skin, producing inflammation and excessive flow of mucus, much of which is absorbed into the blood, and through the circulation reaches every part of the system, involving the Stomach, Kidneys and other parts of the body. When the disease assumes the dry form, the breath becomes exceedingly foul, blinding headaches are frequent, the eyes red, hearing affected and a constant ringing in the ears. No remedy that does not reach the polluted blood can cure Catarrh. S. S. S. expels from the circulation all offensive matter, and when rich, pure blood is again coursing through the body the mucous membranes become healthy and the skin active, all the disagreeable, painful symptoms disappear, and a permanent, thorough cure is effected. S. S. S. being a strictly vegetable blood purifier does not derange the Stomach and digestion, but the appetite and general health rapidly improve under its tonic effects. Write us about your case and get the best medical advice free. Book on blood and skin diseases sent on application.

WHERE WOMEN RULE THE MEN

A PLACE IN WALES WHICH PETTICOAT AUTOCRACY HAS MADE ONE OF MOST REMARKABLE IN WORLD.

Tucked away in a remote corner of Wales, far removed from the tumultuous and awe-creating strife of great cities, and snuggling close to the bosom of the sea in a secluded corner of South Pembrokeshire, lies the little village of Langum. Its cottages are few and its inhabitants do not number far into the hundreds, yet Langum is one of the most remarkable spots in the world.

Petticoats have made it so. For in Langum woman rules supreme. She is the dominating force of the marts of trade, the household financier, the family accountant, and, in fact, fills all the positions that elsewhere are by divine right and established precedent voted to man. Exclusive, self-satisfied Langum, petticoat governed and oyster-breeding, moves along in an even, undisturbed plane, unheeded by the world and equally as unheeding. It is a race apart in its population, in its laws, in its exclusion of the stranger, and its utter disregard of the vast area of world and things lying beyond its borders. Its quiet life is dominated by two all-powerful factors, womankind and oysters. There are men in Langum, but they exert little or no influence upon the affairs of the requestered little Welsh village.

When you talk, when you think of Langum, you talk and you think only of its oysters and women. As the predominant partner, the dictatorial helpmeet, man does not exist, in fact, never has existed. Memory does not run back to the time when this was not so, nor can the mind look forward and conceive a sign to demonstrate that one day the masculine element will prevail in lieu of the eternal, the all-conquering and dominating force of the petticoat. It is a peaceful reign that womankind has held over the destinies of quiet, unpretentious Langum. The red flag of rebellion never has waved there nor has discontent ever disturbed its universal concern. Wander where you will, peer into every secluded nook and corner of the town, it is the same tale of woman's supremacy and of man's grateful vassalage. From the pebble strewn rocky shore up to the tops of hill-infested streets woman sways the rod of power. They direct the outgoing or incoming boats and often "man" them for fishing jaunts upon the sea, which gives up a living to most of the inhabitants of Langum. Ascend the hilly street, with its whitewashed cottages and narrow strips of gardens indicative of their owners' cultivation or neglect, and the overwhelming impression is that woman regulates the household and assigns to her helpmeet his domestic tasks and sets him aright in the way he should go.

In Langum man neither is nor pretends to be. He recognizes the right of womankind to own and rule. In the wayside inn, where a local gossip inquires to whom the house belongs, who is the man breaking stones without, or the other who stands drinking his "slever" of ale at the bar, the answer is Anne Palmer's man, or Sarah Morgan's, or Rebecca Pruscatt's. And though you be prejudiced, the admission is forced that the system works well.

The Langum husband neither requires nor appreciates compassion. Sitting of an evening at his cottage door, with his faithful brood playing around him, his wife and daughter busy within reckoning the gains of the day's work, he is vexed by no mental anxieties or perplexities; divested of all responsibilities of life, he is as pleased as the oyster for which his native place is famed.

Fashion standing still, like all things else in Langum, they are as indifferent to the attire they go forth in as ever was Socrates, even when he donned his sheepskin and went out to meet his friends. But, nevertheless, these stalwart daughters of Eve make no unseemly figure in their short, neat flannel skirts, their shapeless beaver or low felt hats, their coarse stockings, stout clogs, and their inevitable panniers, fastened across the shoulders by substantial leather straps. Fair complexioned, light eyed, fine featured, tall, straight, with broad limbs and proud bearing, the Langum matron and vendor of fish is the most remarkable personage in the whole country. A picturesque figure in the Tenby, Pembroke and Haverford markets, there is no spot safe from her intrusive, persuasive presence.

Hard, indeed, must be the heart which refuses to be charmed. Not a red-faced farmer, not a "civil-spoken" squire but dreads her advent if not desirous of buying her juicy oysters or lightening the wet, shimmering load of fish struggling and gasping in her pannier; not a wayside cottage or farm house but knows her quick, heavy tread and is alive to the necessity or purchasing something from her store or making good their tale of poverty. Never resentful save when rudely repulsed, few would be without her shrill-voiced vaunting, without her oft-recurring visit, without her timely and soothing pleasantry. Scorning distance and weather, the early day which finds her on the road to market will frequently find her at nightfall rowing her well-kept, neatly-painted boat on the silent waters of the Western Cleddau, which, flowing from above Haverford, runs onward to mingle its gentle note with the wild music of the perilous Atlantic, passing as it flows the easeful retreats of local magnates, the ruin of bygone splendor, and the pebbly, streppy shores of fishing villages or lonely hamlets. Abroad at all hours and in all seasons, the Langum woman knows neither fatigue nor fear; she leads a healthy life in the open air all the year round, and illness seems almost unknown.

They begin their working life early and learn to handle a boat long before they have overcome the difficulties of reading. By the time they have arrived at the age of fifteen or sixteen they are thoroughly acquainted with every detail of their trade and they then become bread-winners of the family. But in spite of the hardships of their lives they retain their health and strength for many years.

AN EMPTY PHRASE.

"No," said Miss Henrietta, "I shouldn't say that Sarah belonged to the church. I know that's the usual way to put it, but if words mean anything at all, it doesn't seem fair to twist their meaning. Sarah belongs first and always to herself, and when she joined the church she had no idea of actually belonging to it whatever. Her time doesn't belong to it, her spending money doesn't belong to it, her friendships and ambitions and desires don't belong to it. If she does church work, she does it as a favor. If she gives a little more than usual, she thinks herself truly generous. There isn't one inch of Sarah, not even the tip of her little finger, that really belongs to the church today.

"Sarah wouldn't like it if you told her so, though. She thinks that those who don't join any church are not quite what they ought to be in the way of propriety and good form. She doesn't believe in 'religious excitement,' or 'too much enthusiasm,' or 'old-fashioned strictness,' but she is very particular about religion, she will tell you. She goes to church every Sunday morning and says her prayers every day. Whenever religion doesn't interfere with any other plans she has for her life, she considers it and accepts it. That is what she calls belonging to the church, and to doubt her position never occurs to her.

"I wonder how Sarah would feel if anything that belonged to her was only hers in the same sense. Suppose her money refused to be spent by her, and her time reduced itself to five minutes a day, and her feet and hands wouldn't move the way she wanted them to, but did exactly what they chose instead? A deaf and dumb pauper, and crippled at that, would be about as useful a belonging for any church to have as Sarah is to it. It's lucky that some members do belong, and know what the word means and live up to it, or things would be in a bad way. I'm not saying that I belong myself to the church as much as I ought to, bu the more I look at Sarah the more I want to belong through and through to my religion, and not slip out of all my obligations instead," and Miss Henrietta shook her head and opened her Bible to the Beatitudes.—Forward.

SUITED TO THE ACT.

Philadelphia children are not "slow," whatever may be said of their elders. A preacher in that city not long ago inaugurated in his Sunday school the practice of having the children quote some scriptural text as they dropped their pennies into the contribution box. On the first Sunady in question a little shaver walked up and said, "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver" and in dropped his penny. "Charity shall cover a multitude of sins," and in dropped the next. "It is more blessed to give than to receive," quoted the third, and so on. Just then up walked a little fellow with the unmistakable remnants of molasses candy on his chubby face and as he dropped his cent he hawled out, "A fool and his money are soon parted."

WANTED ESCAPES FOR JAIL.

Perez M. Stewart, superintendent of buildings, chuckled yesterday over what he and his colleagues consider a joke, perhaps innocently perpetrated by one of the inspectors of his staff. Mr. Stewart, since the Park Avenue hotel fire, has kept his inspectors on the jump looking for violations of the law where builders or owners have neglected to provide necessary fire escapes. After the fire in the Tombs prison a few days ago Mr. Stewart sent one of his inspectors to the prison to make an examination as to the use of wood or other inflammable material. Mr. Stewart got the inspector's report yesterday, and in the place for remarks his subordinate has made this startling suggestion:

"I would respectfully suggest that fire escapes should be put on this building" at such and such points. Then follows a detailed statement about the location of outside fire escapes. The inspector who made the report has the reputation of being a sober and industrious man, but Mr. Stewart is wondering whether he is trying to play a practical joke on him or not.—New York Tribune.

ROOSEVELT'S FIRST OFFICE.

"There is the man who nominated Theodore Roosevelt for the first office he ever held," said a gentleman at the Lotus club in New York the other night. And then he brought over to the table the man referred to, William Leary, and introduced him to the visitors. "Billy" Leary is one of the best known newspaper men and politicians in New York.

"I remember the occasion very well," continued the speaker. "Billy was a district leader and it came time to nominate an assemblyman from his district. The party managers got their heads together and picked out Theodore Roosevelt, a young fellow who had been doing some good work in the district in an unostentatious way.

"'Roosevelt's the man for assemblyman,' was the unanimous decision, and they told Billy to nominate him in the convention. That was the beginning of the office-holding career of Mr. Roosevelt, which has culminated in his holding the highest office in the gift of the people."—Washington Star.

LIFE HANGS BY THREADS

A professor of anatomy recently delivered an illustrated lecture before a class of young students, and one of his statements was that the possessor of an absolutely healthy body should not know that it contains a heart, lungs, stomach, liver or anything of that sort; and yet their working depends on some of the merest trifles, the absence of any one of which would mean the stoppage of the whole vital machinery. When you swing your head from side to side, forward or backward, you have only a little cord of ligament between you and sudden death. It is this check-ligament, as it is called, which prevents the head going too far either way. If it were not for this vital check-spring the head would fall back and crush the spinal cord.

If you bare your arm and press hard on one of the veins you will see that in places the vein rises in knots. Take your finger away and they vanish. The reason is that nearly all your veins have little cups in them. The cups open toward the heart, and thus when the blood is flowing in the right direction, they fold back and offer no resistance. But they prevent any fluid flowing in the opposite direction. If one of these cups failed to work or got rusty you would suffocate in a few minutes. Another fact about your body is that your life depends on the working of your two brains—the mechanical and mental. The mechanical is the smaller of the two, and upon it devolves the whole of the working of the body. The mental brain is the larger, and does the thinking. But the smaller controls the larger, and with very good reasons.

For instance, if the mental controlled the mechanical brain, we should have to think separately for every heart-beat, for every breath we draw, and, in fact, for everything we did. This would give us no time to attend to anything else in life. But worse than that—we could not sleep. For the moment we did so we should stop thinking about our hearts and lungs, wherefore they would both stop work.

HOPPER WENT TO CHURCH.

"I attended church once upon a time," said De Wolf Hopper, in an up-town cafe, the other day, "in a Rhode Island city, and heard a worthy clergyman named Whicher get tangled up in his pulpit lines to a painful degree, while the heads of his auditors were bowed in the effort to suppress laughter until they looked like rows of tasseled cornstalks bent by the breeze.

"The Rev. Mr. Whicher was booming the Sunday school, or, rather, he was chiding the congregation for its lack of interest in that church annex, and, finding that they did not act as if moved by his admonition, became slightly incensed.

"'I never,' he shouted, as he banged the pulpit with his fist, 'knew a church which had so many parents with no children.'"—New York Times.

The natives of Palestine have a kettle-drum, the body being made of pottery and the head covered with parchment. It is provided with a cord and is borne in festal processions.

SPAIN'S WAN LITTLE KING

In May Alfonso XIII., Aged 16, Will Becomes of Age and Ascend the Throne.

Pale, narrow-chested, sensitive little Alphonso XIII. comes of age May 17, and takes the oath, climbs into his throne and succeeds his mother as the first person in Spain, says a London correspondent. Thereafter, if his health permits, he is going to make his first tour of the continent and inspect the available supply of marriageable princesses. He is only fifteen—in Spain royalty "comes of age" at sixteen—but affairs of state require that a marriage should be arranged at once.

It would be hard to imagine a more pathetic figure than this little king being led about through the courts of Europe that prospective bidders may get a look at the goods. Afterward it will be the Spanish premier who concludes the arrangements.

"How much money and how much political influence," he will say in effect, "is Spain offered for the title of queen of one of the proudest nations on earth?"

Then the royal guardians of some three Austrian archduchesses, one or two of the Bourbon princesses and some of the German princesses will point out how depreciated in value the goods are. After due dickering the little king and some presumably indifferent princess will become engaged without having anything particular to say about it themselves.

It was hoped in Spain that this bit of business could be arranged before the coronation festivities in May, but the mutterings of revolution became too loud to permit of the royal departure from the country. It was planned at one time to make the coronation festivities rival in splendor those of Edward VII. at Westminster abbey a month later, but the serious condition of the country has caused a considerable change in those plans.

In Spain, as in the Netherlands, th coronation isn't really a coronation at all. In Holland the polite fiction is that the reigning monarch is so lofty in dignity that no subject could assume the moral stature necessary to place the crown on the monarch's head, and thus for the moment have a position of superiority. The real reason is that the doughty Netherlanders are too independent to relish the idea of having one of their number wear a crown, the supreme symbol of sovereignty. For a similar reason the kings and queens of Spain have never been actually crowned since the days of the Visigoths.

All that Alphonso will have to do to become king in fact as well as in name will be to go to the senado or senate and take the oath to support the constitution. There will be gorgeous robes, state carriages, priestly anointings, and a company of all the most distinguished of Spanish grandees, with the ambassadors and representatives of the other royal families of Europe, but crowned heads will be conspicuous by their absence. I saw in an American paper the other day a page full of pictures of most of the kings and queens of all Europe, with a title explaining that they were among the folk who would make the English coronation glorious by their presence. But not one of them all, except, perhaps, the old king of Denmark, father of Queen Alexandra, will be present at either coronation, because through some queer bit of etiquette, for which no reason except tradition can be given, it is not considered good form for one wearer of a crown to see a fellow monarch crowned.

Beyond the general facts given above, no program for the coming festivities has been given out yet in Madrid, and it is thought quite possible that the ceremonies will be kept under cover almost entirely. A great display of pomps and vanities, gauds and gew-gaws before a public overburdened with taxation and infested with anarchy would seem like tempting Providence, so say the experienced Spanish statesmen.

On the principle of the old lady who said she had always noticed that if she lived through the month of May she lived through the rest of the year, it is possible that Alphonso may survive long enough to make his influence felt in Spain. His father, always a rather weakly man, died of consumption at the age of twenty-seven, six months before his only son was born. Little Alphonso, who had therefore the rare distinction of being born a king, has had a battle from the first start with the inherited seeds of disease. At 4 he was seized with an illness from which no one expected him to recover, but his experience was another instance of the queer fact that the sickly often can pull through sickness better than the strong.

Today he is about as well as he ever has been. You will find scarcely any one in Madrid who does not take it for granted that he is consumptive, but he has not so far given any sign of serious indisposition. After he so narrowly escaped death in infancy his mother realized that the only hope was to keep him out of doors as much as possible. He has managed somehow to get as firm a grip of manly sports as if he were a robust little English viscount. They say he is as much at home on a horse as an Arizona cowboy. But his forehead is too high and narrow, his eyes are too bright and his nerves respond too quickly to the stimuli of ordinary experiences.

The rich man who has lost his wealth suffers far more than the poor man who has always been poor, and thus it is that little Alphonso of the unlucky XIII is a more than uncommonly tragic figure; his throne hangs together by a nail; his proud old country hangs together only by tradition. The very grandeur and vast extent of the boy's various palaces only emphasize the contrast between the impoverished Spain of today and the magnificence of the empire that once dominated all Europe, into whose coffers gold kept tumbling from every point of the compass, and that held the western continent in the hollow of her hand.

Today Spain shorn of her colonies, is a second rate power, with a disorganized army—some of which it would like to disband if it were not that the discharged troops, bitter because of the loss of the only employment they understood, would be sure to become republicans forthwith; with a navy that has not existed since the overwhelming disaster of Manila bay and Santiago; with a naval department which has cost the country just as much since the navy ceased to exist as it did before; with a great swarm of priests exempt from taxation and from punishments for crime; with corruption in government departments, a custom of such long standing that the public takes it for granted; with a political system by which the results of a national election can be foretold the day before the election is held;

ODD REPUTES OF TOWNS

There are many towns in different countries holding records of which the inhabitants are justly proud. On the other hand, there are some places with distinctions the dubious nature of which is quite unenvied.

It may be said of Amoy, in China, that it is the filthiest city in the world—a record which certainly no other place is anxious to eclipse. The city is on an island of the same name. For upwards of a thousand years it has been an important trading place.

The population of the island is estimated at over 400,000, and it has been said that there are something like 5,000,000 dead bodies packed in its soil. For many centuries the hillsides of the city have been used as a burying ground. Now the city and cemetery are hopelessly mixed. The graves touch one another at every point and form a solid white surface of rock, brick, porcelain and cement, covering more than 1,000,000 square feet. Near one of the joss-houses 30,000 bodies are buried vertically to save space. They stand on a plot of ground of as many feet square.

The wells from which the city draws its water supply are shallow, and are sunk on the edges of graveyards, and even among the tombs themselves. The water is muddy, and is colored by the perpetual turning up of the soil. It has no sewers, and the streets vary from two feet to six feet in width; no wheeled vehicle can use them. Here and there is an open space or plaza, dug out so as to be a huge receptacle into which the streets discharge their refuse. Filth abounds and its twin sister—disease—flourishes. The atmosphere is laden with noxious smells, and the burial of the dead goes on at an alarming rate.

The city of Artena, in Italy, can also claim a dubious distinction which is quite undisputed. It is said that there is no man or woman among the inhabitants who has not either committed a murder or tried to do so.

Gheel is a town about thirty miles east of Antwerp, and about the same distance from the German frontier. It is unique, for there is no other town in the world which can number so many lunatics amongst its inhabitants. There are some 1,300 demented creatures within its boundaries, and they are not confined within the walls of any asylum, being perfectly harmless. They live in the houses of the sane inhabitants, with whom the government makes arrangements for their keep, etc. There are four mental specialists resident in Gheel, who, with the assistance of four other men, look after the people of this curious town.

MERELY A PHRASE.

"Of course, you were given the freedom of the city."

"Yes," answered the distinguished visitor. "But I had to keep so close to a regular schedule under the strict surveillance of so many committees that it was hard to realize how free I was."—Washington Star.

CUBA IN AMERICAN STORY

ALMOST A CENTURY SINCE THE ISLAND BEGAN TO FIGURE IN THE AFFAIRS OF THIS COUNTRY.

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat.)

It is almost a century since Cuba first began to figure in the mind of any American statesmen of prominence as a possible future acquisition to the United States. Writing about it in the summer of 1807, a little after the middle of his second term, Jefferson remarked that "Probably Cuba would add itself to our confederation in case of a war with Spain." There we get the first recorded intimation by any American statesman of the possible annexation of that island to this country. At that time the French had invaded Spain, and there was also a controversy between the United States and Spain over the eastern boundary of the Louisiana which Bonaparte sold to Jefferson in 1803. Jefferson, Livingston and other American statesmen contending that the eastern section of Louisiana included part or all of what was called West Florida in those days, or the strip of Spanish territory along the southerly ends of the present states of Mississippi and Alabama. This controversy threatened more than once to result in war and Jefferson astutely inferred that in case of war between this country and Spain or between Spain and any powerful European nation which would menace Spain's colonies on this side of the Atlantic, Cuba would be likely to ask for annexation to the United States.

Right to the end of his days this far-seeing American statesman continued to regard Cuba as a certain acquisition to the territory of the United States at some time in the future. Writing in his Anas, in 1806, Jefferson cited this as the view which had been reached by him and his cabinet as to the status of Cuba, which view was to be unofficially expressed by our representatives in those colonies to influence persons in Cuba and Mexico, the latter being at that time also a dependency of Spain: "If you remain under the dominion of the kingdom and family of Spain we are contented; but we should be extremely unwilling to see you pass under the dominion or ascendency of France or England. In the latter cases should you choose to declare independence we can not now commit ourselves by saying we would make common cause with you, but must reserve ourselves to act according to the then existing circumstances; but in our proceedings we shall be influenced by friendship to you, by a firm belief that our interests are intimately connected, and the strongest repugnance to see you under subordination to France or England, either politically or commercially."

In those words Jefferson showed his habitual caution as well as his prescience. He would not commit the United States to a war with Spain or any other country in case Cuba or Mexico should break away from Spain and be assailed either by the mother country or by France or England, the two other nations which, as was thought at that time, menaced Spain's colonies. This was the time that Bonaparte had deposed Spain's king and put his brother, Joseph Bonaparte, in control of affairs at Madrid, and in the war between France and England, which had been under way for many years, it was thought that Cuba might fall as a spoil to either of these countries. Jefferson made it plain, though, that the United States would be seriously displeased to see Cuba pass to the control of either of those two nations. Jefferson had not the slightest objection to the continued connection of Cuba to Spain, so long as the Cubans willed to have it so, but he would decidedly object to seeing it go under the sway of any of Spain's European neighbors. That was the attitude taken toward Cuba onward to the end of Spain's domination of the islands. The policy on that point which was outlined by the third president of the United States very nearly a century ago, continued to be the position held by all other American presidents and statesmen down to 1898, and which was proclaimed by many of them.

Referring to Bonaparte's invasion of Spain and his overthrow of that country's dynasty, Jefferson in 1809, a month after he left the white house, wrote thus to President Madison: "I suppose the conquest of Spain will soon force a delicate question on you as to the Floridas and Cuba, which will offer themselves to you. Napoleon will certainly give his consent without difficulty to our receiving the Floridas, and with some difficulty possibly Cuba." To Madison he also said: "It will be objected to our receiving Cuba that no limit can then be drawn to our future acquisitions. Cuba can be defended by us without a navy, and this develops the principle which ought to limit our views. Nothing should ever be accepted which would require a navy to defend it." Jefferson, of course, was mistaken as to the United States being able to defend Cuba without a navy. It shows, however, that he considered the island as geographically a part of North America, and that the demands of political cosmography made its ultimate possession by the United States essential to our safety.

To the last days of Jefferson's life he kept in view the probability that Cuba would ultimately become United States territory. Writing in 1823, when England was thought to have designs on Cuba, Jefferson said to President Monroe: "I candidly confess that I have ever looked on Cuba as the most interesting addition which could ever be made to our system of states. The control which, with Florida Point, this island would give us over the gulf of Mexico and the countries and isthmus bordering it, would fill up the measure of our political well being." And around the same time he wrote to the same person that Cuba's "addition to our confederacy is exactly what is wanting to round our power as a nation to the point of its utmost interest." The idea of ultimate absorption was forcibly expressed by John Quincy Adams, secretary of state under Monroe, about the same time in 1823, in these words: "In looking forward to the probable course of events for the short period of half a century, it is scarcely possible to resist the conviction that the annexation of Cuba to our federal republic will be indispensable to the continuance and the integrity of the union itself."

Events, however, which neither Jefferson nor Adams foresaw, prevented the annexation which each desired. The slavery issue was then beginning to have an influence on all the great questions of American domestic and foreign policy. The south was aroused by the Missouri admission contest of 1819-21 to the necessity of protecting itself against the influences adverse to its institution which that controversy revealed in a striking way. The south not only shared with the north the hostility to Cuba's acquisition by any other European power than its original owner, but had reasons peculiar to itself for preventing its seizure by any of the Latin-American nations, and for even refusing to give any support to Cuba's aspirations for independence. Cuba had slavery in Monroe's time and for many years afterward. If England should acquire Cuba its slaves would be emancipated. The same thing would take place if Cuba should be gained by Mexico, Colombia or any of the other countries of the American continent which had broken away from Spain, but whose independence Spain had not recognized, and both Colombia and Mexico had serious intentions in those days of attacking their enemy, Spain, in Cuba and Porto Rico. If the Cubans should gain their independence one of their first acts would be to free the slaves in the island.

The south felt that the liberation of the slaves in Cuba, no matter how it was brought about, would be a blow to slavery in the United States. Senator John M. Berrien, of Georgia, then a democrat, afterwards a whig, but always a strong pro-slavery man, declared in a speech in the senate in 1826: "If our interests and safety shall require us to say to these new republics, 'Cuba and Porto Rico must remain as they are,' we are free to say it, and, by the blessing of God and the strength of our arms, to enforce the declaration." This was the southern view, and the south usually dominated the politics of the country in those days. This sentiment, which was freely proclaimed by many southern statesmen and newspapers, deterred the feeble Mexicans from capturing Cuba, prevented the feebler Cubans from making any serious attempt to gain their independence, and lengthened Spain's stay on the American continent.

In deference to the interest of slavery in the United States this country's chief concern regarding Cuba in the first quarter of the nineteenth century was to keep it in the hands of Spain, so as to prevent the emancipation of the slaves in the island. In the second quarter of the century the exigencies of slavery demanded the annexation of Cuba, so as not only to head off all chances of emancipation in it through the island's falling into the hands of any other country or becoming independent, but also to enlarge the area of slavery here, in the interest of the balance of power between the slave and the free sections. This incited the attempts of several of the presidents to induce Spain to sell Cuba to us, and also provoked the various efforts to capture the island by the landing of armed bodies of filibusters, who attempted to arouse the Cubans against Spain. Jefferson, Madison, John Quincy Adams and other American statesmen, in the first quarter of the century, foresaw that Cuba some time would become part of the

DEATH OF SIPIAGUINE GIVES RUSSIA PLEASURE.

Minister of Interior Much Disliked in Radical Circles—Scandal Touched His Name.

St. Petersburg, Tuesday, April 15.—Although M. Sipiaguine, the minister of the interior, who was assassinated April 15, was not actually the leader of the reactionary party in Russia, he was the tool of those who, in the opinion of many, were responsible for the prevailing situation. His assassination, easily explicable in the present political condition, was hailed with joy in radical circles. For a month there had been daily rumors of Sipiaguine's impending resignation, owing to disagreements with the governor general of Moscow, the Grand Duke Sergius, who has been supporting the novel policy towards the working classes instituted by M. Trepoff, the police prefect of Moscow, which includes the organization of labor unions under police control. The murdered minister's name was also mixed up with the stories of financial irregularities alleged against so many officials at present. Sipiaguine spent immense sums in redecorating his residence. A single chandelier alone cost 50,000 roubles, and he was accused of appropriating 500,000 roubles from the secret service funds. The deceased was by no means talented and owed his position to influential friends, especially to Count Shermetieff, the bosom friend of Czar Alexander III., and to the dowager czarina, who is largely under Count Shermetieff's influence.

Shortly before Sipiaguine was appointed minister of the interior he married the elder sister of Count Shermetieff's wife, the Princess Viazemsky, a brilliant woman, thirty-six years of age, who is now a warm friend of the czarina. Count Shermetieff was deeply interested in Lieutenant General Prince Viazemsky. The latter, who was a member of the council of the empire, was severely reprimanded by the czar for his protests against the action of the police during the popular demonstrations of the early part of last year and he is said to have left Russia to avoid the consequence of his protests.

The death of Sipiaguine may materially affect the chances of Murray A. Verner, the millionaire Pittsburg contractor, of securing the St. Petersburg tramway franchise, as the deceased was a notable supporter of Mr. Verner's proposition and overruled the committee which had recommended the Westinghouse offer. The matter, possibly, is now indefinitely postponed.

Many people think that the death of Sipiaguine will help the aspirations of M. Witte, the finance minister, who has long been ambitious to become imperial chancellor, or, at least, obtain control of the ministry of the interior.

Unusually grave labor outbreaks are reported at Yekaterinoslav, Poltava, Voronej and Tambov. The details are rigorously suppressed.

OIL TRUST WAS OBLIGING.

Bluffton, Ind., April 18.—That the Standard Oil company can get into an obliging humor when it wants to is shown by its action in taking up eight miles of a four-inch pipe line to give the Muncie, Hartford City and Fort Wayne interurban line the right-of-way between Montpelier and Poneto. The Standard will bury the pipe line again two yards west of its present location. When the interurban tried to get a right-of-way from Montpelier to Bluffton, when it would parallel the Lake Erie and Western railroad, it could not do so, as the Standard's pipe line was located along the steam railroad and the oil trust objected. Another deal was made, however, by which the Standard moves its line connecting the Montpelier oil field, which will give the interurban the right-of-way. The Standard has contracts under which it can cross farms at any point, something that the interurban company could not get.

COMMENDS NEW PASTOR

(North Manchester Tribune.)

Rev. A. S. Wooten, who has so acceptably and profitably served the Methodist church here for the past four years, was assigned to the Simpson church in Fort Wayne. It is to be hoped he and his estimable family may find as pleasant environments in their new home as they have been while here. All departments of the church work here have prospered under Rev. Wooten's pastorate and he and Mrs. Wooten and the children certainly go from North Manchester with the prayers of the church membership for their continued happiness, success and usefulness, and the same best wishes of all who have been fortunate enough to have formed their acquaintance. The Tribune also takes pleasure in commending Rev. Wooten and family to the good people of Fort Wayne.

CREED REVISION FINISHED

THE PRESBYTERIAN COMMITTEE END LABORS.

Agrees Unanimously Upon a Report to be Submitted to the General Assembly Next Month.

Washington, D. C., April 18.—The Presbyterian creed-revision committee completed its labors yesterday and adjourned. The committee agreed unanimously upon a report to be made to the general assembly, which meets in New York on May 15. The members reserved the right to differ upon minor matters in the report to be made to the assembly, but the final report, an authorized statement says, was unanimous and hearty. The differences refer entirely to the question of phraseology and do not apply to that of principle or doctrine. As finally determined upon, this brief statement is to contain sixteen articles, as follows:

1. God.
2. Revelation.
3. Divine purpose.
4. The creation.
5. The sin of man.
6. The grace of God.
7. Election.
8. Our Lord Jesus Christ.
9. Faith and repentance.
10. Holy spirit.
11. The new birth and the new life.
12. The resurrection and the life to come.
13. The law of God.
14. The church and sacraments.
15. The last judgment.
16. Christian service and the final triumph.

The committee also was charged with the work of the revision of the confession of faith by the preparation of a declaratory statement defining the meaning of certain portions of the confession. This feature of its labors had been completed at previous sessions of the committee and was finally reviewed and unanimously agreed upon here. The declaratory statement deals with chapters 3 and 10 of the confession, the former referring to the eternal decrees of God and the latter known as the elect infant clause; also with that portion of the confession relating to good works which was revised by a change in the text. That concerning oaths and the pope of Rome clause will be dropped from the confession.

HANNA HEADS BIG CONCERN.

Detroit, Mich., April 18.—Senator Hanna will be president of the Detroit Iron and Steel company, articles of incorporation for which are now being prepared. The company is to be capitalized at $1,500,000. Next to Senator Hanna the Solvay Process company is the heaviest stockholder and the latter concern will furnish the coke for the plant, which is to be located on Zug island, just below the city. A number of Pittsburg iron men are also interested in the project. Work is to be begun on the plant at once and it is to be running in the summer of 1903. There are now no other institutions of this kind here, and it is expected that its establishment will revive the iron industry, which flourished in Detroit many years ago, but has been dead for a long time.

GOVERNOR WARNED BY REDS.

Trenton, N. J., April 18.—A letter which presumably was written by an anarchist was received in Governor Murphy's mail yesterday. It was addressed to the judges of the supreme court of New Jersey. It is thought that the letter was an outcome of the governor's action in signing the Lord anti-anarchy bill. It was as follows: "Beware lest you meet the same fate as Sisera, who was nailed down with a tent peg by Jael, as narrated in the Bible, book of Judges." The letter was signed "S. P. T." Just before the expiration of the term of former Governor Voorhees he received letters containing similar threats owing to his advocacy of measures for the extermination of anarchism.

STYLISH SPRING COSTUMES.

LONG CARRIAGE COAT.

Trimming of Perforated Straps.

Our illustration shows an exceedingly rich and handsome long coat of black taffeta cut with jabot vest effect and trimmed with perforated straps over white satin. It has a large tucked taffeta collar, supplemented with another of embroidered linen and a tasteful garniture in white appears on the ruffles around the bottom. All the stitching is done with Corticelli Stitching silk in black and in white and the garment is lined throughout with white satin.

Some yokes are made of lace and rather a pretty effect is gained by adding a row of lace insertion an inch or so below the yoke and joining it with a lattice of narrow velvet ribbon. The fancy for black and white effects is evidenced in the number of white lawn, organdy and mull gowns trimmed with black lace, both edging and insertion, and the quantity of black and white effects, running from lawns and mulls through the various mercerized fabrics to foulards and silks.

TEAMSTERS WIN OUT.

The Teamsters' union has been successful in its fight for higher wages and at a special meeting last evening twelve contractors signed the scale promulgated by the union recently. The scale provides for a rate of forty cents an hour for a man and two-horse team, an increase of five cents an hour over the old scale. Ten hours will constitute a day's work. Three or four contractors and also the board of works have not yet agreed to the new scale. The contractors will be given until Monday to sign the scale, and after that no union teamster will be allowed to work for those who do not sign.

FARMER'S CONTEST SETTLED.

The farmer's contest for the plow and sleigh was decided last evening at St. Mary's church fair, Martin Ankenbruck being the successful one, having 2,034½ votes. Barney Myers was second in the voting with 1,282 votes and Barney Nussbaum was third with 1,085 votes. The buggy contest will be decided this evening. The attendance was very large last night and the booths and auction sale were liberally patronized.

POTTER HEARD FROM.

Earl Potter, the young man who left home about three weeks ago without saying where he was going, has written that he has taken a position as fireman on one of the lake boats that run between Cleveland and Duluth. Potter says he left home in search of adventure, believing that he could better himself by striking out independently. He expects to occupy his present position throughout the season.

THIS GIRL LOST HER HAIR.

Muncie, Ind., April 18.—Minda Proctor, a country girl, living near here, has filed suit for $10,000 against the Union Traction company because the suction caused by a Union Traction car, rushing by her while she was standing on a crossing, threw her down, severely injuring her and causing her to lose her hair. She says the loss of her hair is worth $200, and that since her injury it is not as beautiful as it was.

BARE SURGICAL OPERATION.

San Francisco, April 18.—The life of Aaron Johnson has been saved at the city and county hospital through an operation never before performed on this coast, the complete extirpation of the larynx, on which was a cancerous growth. This will rank as one of three or four successful cases on record in the world, for the danger point is now regarded as passed. An artificial larynx is being made for the patient, which, it is asserted, will enable him to speak, though his voice will be confined to a monotone.

Pearl Shriner, a young Elkhart girl, was seriously burned Thursday when her clothing caught fire from a pile of burning leaves in the yard.

The Northern Indiana Baptist association will hold its next meeting in Goshen on June 16 and the program committee is now preparing the program for the event.

Riley M. Johnson, of Angola, has in his possession a receipt given by the land office agent at Fort Wayne on May 17, 1836, for $193.65 for 240 acres of rich Steuben county land. The property remained in the possession of the original patentees until it was sold by the heirs to Mr. Johnson.

W. B. Hale, of Geneva, is probably the first man in Indiana to receive a telegram by the Marconi wireless system. It was sent to him by C. K. McFadden, manager of the Byrd oil syndicate, of London, which has much property in the Indiana field. EXERCISING

Health by exercise is one of the surest of modern fads. It is really a recognition of one of the necessary laws of health from which we, in modern life, are always prone to drift away. When each man provided for his own individual needs, he had to till the ground, to hunt, to earn his bread literally by the sweat of his brow, and all this exercise made for health. Now-a-days, when there is specialization of labor, it falls to the lot of many a man and woman to work in store or office and to take no exercise save what can be taken between the store and the dwelling or on Sundays and rare holidays. For this reason there is sound sense in the attempt to supply artificially the exercise which cannot be obtained naturally—to toughen the muscles, and expand the chest. It is never to be forgotten, however, that gymnastics or calisthenics are artificial, and while they will promote health can rarely be counted on to produce it. If the heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, or stomach, are "weak," it can hardly be expected that exercise will strengthen them. But once cure diseases which weaken the body, and then exercise will do much to preserve the restored health.

One chief obstacle to the use of physical exercises for the promotion of health is that the people who most need exercise cannot be persuaded to practice it, or persist in it regularly. They are weak, run-down, nervous, and the very effort which exercise calls for discourages them. Then, also, the physical enervation they feel has its corresponding mental enervation and there is almost a total lack of ambition. It is to people such as these that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery comes as a means to the re-establishment of health. It heals the diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, purifies and enriches the blood, and enables the building up of a sound, muscular body from the nutrition derived from food perfectly digested and assimilated.

"I feel it my duty to let you all know that I have recently advised a young gentleman, who was suffering badly with kidney and bladder disease, to try your 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Frank Startz, M. D., of Flatonia, Fayette Co., Texas. "He bought four bottles from our druggist here, and after he had used the first bottle he began to improve. Sometimes he was unable to walk ten steps, now he can ride a horse without any pain in his back, and looks as well and sound as a young boy. His age is only 28. He has suffered for nearly three years, and several other doctors called the case incurable, but I had confidence in Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and now I have been offered one hundred dollars several times for my kind advice, but I would not accept it because I want everybody to know what Dr. Pierce's famous medicine can do.

"This testimony is absolutely true, and the reason I haven't mentioned the young man's name is because he does not want to have his name published."

The cure of this young man by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" serves to enforce the proposition made in the beginning of this article, that health by exercise is impossible when certain diseases exist. A man who can "hardly take ten steps" is certainly incapable of active exercise.

More common, perhaps, than kidney disease, and often associated with it, is some disease or disorder of the liver. The following letter exhibits a specimen of the cures of "liver complaint" which have resulted from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

"I sent you a letter about a year ago," writes Mrs. J. Ellis Hamilton, of Farmington, Marion Co., W. Va. "I stated my case as plainly as I could, and received a letter from you in a few days telling me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription'—a bottle of each. I used three of each, and feel like a new woman. Don't suffer any pain or misery any more. Before using your medicines I suffered all the time—had jaundice, caused from food not digesting properly. I would have sick headache three and four times in a week, and jaundice every four or five weeks. Could not do the work myself. I commenced using your medicines as recommended for liver complaint, and I am cured now. I asked our doctor if he couldn't cure me, and he said he could give me medicine to help me, but the trouble might return anytime. I doctored three years without any relief, only for a short time, and then I was as bad as ever. Haven't had sick headache since I took the first bottle of medicine."

It is often the case that "weak" heart, torpid liver, kidney "trouble," and other diseases have their cause and origin in the diseased stomach. When the stomach is cured by the use of "Discovery," the other diseases are cured with it. When the cause of disease is removed, the effect stops.

If the dealer offers a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," remember that the sole motive of substitution is to enable him to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious preparations.

A PLEA FOR GENERAL MILES

REPUBLICAN SENATORS CALL ON THE PRESIDENT.

Allison, Hale, McComas and Hoar Say Retirement of General Would be Very Unwise.

Chicago, April 18.—The Record-Herald today prints the following special from Washington by its correspondent, Walter Wellman:

Four republican senators went to the white house today and urged the president to permit General Miles to remain undisturbed at the head of the army. They were Senators Allison, Hoar, Hale and McComas. The senators told the president that in their opinion the enforced retirement of General Miles would be a mistake of colossal proportions. They pointed out that the public is not quick to understand the true inwardness of matters here in Washington, and that in the popular mind the president's motives might be misconstrued.

Although they recognized that the president had reasons which to him seemed sufficient, they feared the public would believe General Miles had been retired because he had opposed the administration policies and because he had been instrumental in bringing to the notice of the country the report of Major Gardener, civil governor of Tayabas province in the Philippines. In the opinion of the senators this would greatly harm the administration and the republican cause generally.

It was also suggested to President Roosevelt that General Miles has only about fifteen months to serve before his retirement under the age limit, and unless imperative reasons demanded earlier action they advised that he be permitted to hold his place on the active list to the end of his time.

President Roosevelt, in reply, explained to the senators some of the reasons why he believed General Miles has destroyed his usefulness as the senior general in command of the army, and why the good of the service requires his retirement. With most of these reasons the readers of the Record-Herald are already familiar. The president explained that he had no personal animosity toward General Miles, but that he could not reconcile with his duty any insubordination on the part of officers of any rank. He said while violation of the articles of war by a few of our soldiers in the Philippines was bad enough, and should be rigorously punished, it was a small matter compared with subversion of discipline at the very head of the army itself. The president brought to the attention of his callers the charge which has been made that General Miles has acted with democratic senators, members of the Philippine committee, in trying to discredit the army, and asked if that sort of thing was to be tolerated.

The senators told the president they did not indorse such conduct, and admitted that it was probably true General Miles had overstepped the bounds of propriety in advising with the democratic senators who were carrying on a political campaign against the army and against the administration. But they added they were authorized by friends of General Miles to say that the general had agreed to say and do nothing in the future; that he was willing to keep absolutely silent, and that he would do his best to so conduct himself as to meet with the president's approval.

Upon hearing this President Roosevelt promised to take no action "at present," and there the matter rests. The president had already decided to drop the case of General Miles till after the return of Secretary Root from Cuba, about the end of the month.

Although the senators who called on the president today in General Miles' behalf declined to say whether or not they were asked to do so by the general himself, that is the general understanding. All four senators are personal friends of the lieutenant general and one of them, Senator Hoar, is his kinsman by marriage.

In more than one way General Miles finds himself in the center of the storm of gossip at this time. It became known today that General Hawley, chairman of the senate committee on military affairs, has covertly threatened to hold up certain appropriations in which the war department is greatly interested in case the president places the lieutenant general on the retired list. General Hawley declares in his bluff way that the proposal to retire General Miles is an effort to degrade him before the American people, and that if it be done there will be trouble.

It is said by senators who know the inside of affairs in the military committee that the threat to make trouble for the war department over the appropriations was the real reason why the retirement of General Miles was not ordered last week, as had been originally intended. At this time the war department is interested in a large number of appropriations beyond the usual grist, such as the $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 for rebuilding West Point and a couple of millions for the Governor's Island plan, to say nothing of the general staff bill and the confirmation of Captain Crozier as chief of ordnance. All these facts indicate that the friends of General Miles are rallying to his support and that a battle royal is on between them and the administration.

Secretary Root is not escaping attention. Th head of the war department was never personally popular in congress, although his great ability is recognized by all. It is conceded by men of both political parties that he is the ablest man who has sat in the chair of the secretary of war for many years. He is essentially constructive rather than emollient, and he drives so hard to his ends that some senators think him abrupt and cold. The beet sugar men blame him for having induced President Roosevelt to take up the cause of Cuba, and this has led to some opposition to his measures and policies in the senate.

Now the secretary is under fire because he withheld the Gardener report from the public, and in the debate of the Philippine bill, which begins in the senate tomorrow and which is likely to run for several weeks, the secretary of war is sure to come in for a lively fire of criticism. The democratic senators are loaded with ammunition made out of the disclosures as to the conduct of our troops in the Philippines which have so much stirred up the country, and they show a determination to make Secretary Root a scapegoat for the whole wretched affair. They do not conceal their intention to make matters so hot for him that he may be driven to retire from the cabinet.

Naturally this strengthens the case of General Miles, for if Mr. Root is to be placed on the defensive for having suppressed the Gardener report, General Miles is more likely to escape retirement for having called that report to the attention of the country.

BROTHER KILLS BROTHER.

Detroit, Mich., April 18.—Edward Hawley, aged about forty-one years, was shot and instantly killed by his brother, James Hawley, who is about sixty years of age, in their saloon at the corner of River and Nineteenth streets last night. Edward, James and Luke Hawley are well known river men, owners of a tug line and other vessel property, also the saloon in which the shooting occurred. The three brothers were engaged in an argument about a vessel just purchased by Edward and Luke and the latter was trying to induce James to take a share in the new boat. James accused his brothers of trying to "bluff" him into the deal. Edward then playfully brushed James' face with a bunch of shrubs which he had in his hands and James warned Edward not to do that again or he would shoot. Edward repeated the act and James shot him in the right breast. Edward died in a few minutes and James surrendered to the police. At the police station James said "they forced me to do it."

FORTUNE AWAITS THIS MAN.

Marion, Ind., April 18.—The police have been asked to search for Frank Zimmerman, formerly of Bluehall, Pa., for whom a fortune is waiting at his home. Zimmerman left home in 1893 and went to Chicago to attend the world's fair. When he left Chicago nothing was heard from him until January 25, 1895, when he telegraphed home for money, which was sent to him. The letter was returned, saying Zimmerman had not called for it. The missing man was said to be eccentric, and it is supposed that he is somewhere in one of the gas belt cities, and has concluded not to go home until he has made a success of his work. The property owned by him has, since his departure, trebled in value.

THE GREAT CANADIAN CURE
"WRIGHT'S RHEUMATIC REMEDY"
Is making cures when all other means have failed. Can you doubt such evidence as this?

PERU, Ind., Feb. 25, 1902.

It was while working in the Rolling Mills at Bellefonte, Pa., about six years ago, that I was first taken with "Sciatica" Rheumatism. I called in my physician, who prescribed for me, but gave no relief. I was compelled to take to my bed after a year's suffering. The physician of the company gave me up and said that my case was incurable and would speedily end in paralysis. My wife then sought another physician of note, who attended to me for about a year and who said that I could not be cured. I had been in bed for nearly two years suffering with everything, with such relief as hypodermic treatment gives. After being given up by the two physicians, through the influence of friends I was taken in as an inmate of the city hospital at Williamsport, Pa., and received the best treatment that hospital afforded. I remained about eleven weeks and was then discharged by the attending physicians as incurable and returned to my home. After several months at home, I was again sent to Williamsport, Pa., hospital, to be under the personal care of Dr. McCormac, a Specialist of repute. After five weeks under his care he said that my case was hopeless, and I again was returned to my home. For another year I laid at my home and was treated by the local physician without benefit, and as a last recourse I was sent to the city hospital at Lock Haven, Pa., and remained there under the care of the staff of physicians, who at the end of five weeks told me that they could not do anything for me, and for the third time I was returned to my home at Howard, Pa. I remained there crippled and almost helpless for three years, when my family brought me to this city last October. I was barely able to move on crutches. While at the depot at Columbus, Ohio, I was spoken to by a gentleman who said that he had been cured of a bad attack of Sciatica by the use of "Wright's Rheumatic Remedy," and advised me to try it, and I was also advised by my sister-in-law, who said that this medicine was doing a great deal of good. It was upon the strength of such strong testimony that I procured a bottle, and to my great surprise, the awful pains that I had been bearing for nearly six years ceased before I had been taking your W. R. R. two weeks, and I began to feel better, and have been gaining in health and strength every day since. My right arm and hand were useless. Now the full use has returned. My limbs, that I could not bear to have touched, I can now use and can walk and go around as usual. I can hardly comprehend that after so long a time, being given up by three hospital staffs and three different physicians, that I am feeling so well, and now on the way to again being able to work and be of use and service to my family by the use of your wonderful W. R. R.

JAMES AGNEW.
(Signed.)

This is to certify that Mr. James Agnew signed the foregoing testimonial in my presence and personally gave it to me of his own free will.
